Debate Continues on Downtown Garage

Should a downtown garage be a bare-bones structure, providing only a minimal amount of street-level retail space? Or should a garage development also include a substantial number of shops and apartments?

Should a new open-space town square be carved out of the Park-and-Shop lot adjacent to the library?

The first two questions remained unanswered after Borough Council's marathon, 2½-hour long workshop discussion last Tuesday night. If there was any consensus at all, it focused on the desire for a town square.

This was the first of several workshops at which Council is planning to discuss development of the Park-and-Shop and South Tulane metered lots. The next is scheduled for Thursday night, June 28, at Borough Hall. The goal of this meeting is to narrow downtown development schemes from the current four to one or two.

There was a sense during the workshop discussion that a town square with a "plain vanilla" parking garage at its perimeter would be unwise. "This would be dreadful from a design point of view," said Bob Brown, a Borough consultant on the proposed downtown development.

Should the eventual decision be to focus on parking, one level of retail might be set in front of the garage, at the edge of the public square. The row of shops could be enhanced by a loggia.

Mayor Marvin Reed opened the workshop by stressing that Council must still deal with the question of whether there is a need for parking in the downtown. In attempting to answer the question, he provided some parking facts and figures.

He said that there are currently 269 spaces in the Park-and-Shop and South Tulane metered lots. These bring in a net annual revenue of $391,811.

Eighty five spaces must be provided within 400 feet of the new library. Twenty metered spaces need to be uprooted for use as handicapped parking, loading zones, right-turn lanes, and drop-off lanes. The 25 metered spaces on the Griggs Corner lot, across from the library, cannot be expected to continue to serve the town, he said. These are on privately owned property that is leased by the Borough.

Mayor Reed also noted that there will be a loss of 42 parking spaces at St. Paul's Church after the end of the year.

Should the two Borough parking lots be developed with a significant

Chief Michaud Felt the Time Was Right for His Retirement

Princeton Borough police chief Thomas Michaud is about to close the book on his law enforcement career. After 35 years of service to the department, he will retire on June 30.

He was hired as a Princeton Borough patrol officer in 1966. He has held every position in the department, and has spent the last 10½ years as the chief of police. Now it's time to say goodbye.

"I've fulfilled all of the goals I set for myself," he commented. "It's time to move to a different phase of my life. It's far better to leave a position at a time when it feels right, and I believe it's the right time for me.

"I've been here for 35 years, and I've had an extremely enjoyable career. I get a little melancholy, because I still enjoy coming to work, and I enjoy the community."

Chief Michaud was born in Wisconsin. He and his family, including two brothers, lived between Wis-amount of retail and residential, he said, between 50 and 150 new parking spaces will be needed to serve the new retail and residential component.

"Let's think about the downtown, what we would like it to be," said David Goldfarb. "I believe that this area is not well suited for a lot of additional activity because of the impact on surrounding neighborhoods. How can we build and not have an impact such as more cars?"

Ryan Stark Lilienthal proposed that a new public square and a garage be constructed on the Park-and-Shop lot, but that the Tulane lot not be touched.

Mayor Reed reminded Council that the original thought was that the garage would not pay for itself without retail and residential space. But, since then, he had learned from Desman Associates, a Borough consultant, that a "plain vanilla" garage at some point would pay for itself and make money. He also reminded everyone that there was a strong feeling in town against building "an ugly garage."

Wendy Benchley put in a positive word for constructing additional rental apartments. Mr. Goldfarb replied that if the Borough were interested in having more apartments in the downtown "it could rezone and get someone else to do it."

Mildred Trotman stressed the need for more parking downtown, while Peggy Karcher supported the addition of residential space. "This will add to nighttime vitality," she said, "and not add to parking, since people will be out to work in their cars by 8 a.m."

As he has at past meetings, Roger Martindell recommended that an extra floor be added to Palmer Square's Chambers Street garage. This would accommodate 140 cars and cost $22,000 per space to build.

Some of the downtown development schemes designed by Desman Associates and Princeton future require underground parking. Ms. Karcher wondered whether there was water underground. She was told by Borough Engineer Carl Peters that there was. The water table is six to seven feet below the surface, and this will add to the cost of placing parking underground, said Mr. Peters.

In preparation for the June 28 meeting, Council asked Mr. Brown to analyze several questions. Should there be a bridge over Spring Street separating two elements of the development? Would it be possible to have retail on the lower level of a garage and not construct apartments? How many levels should there be below grade and above grade? Should the parking structure be two, three, or four cars wide?

Also, Princeton Future and Mr. Brown will draw sketch plans to show how a physical framework based on a new public square and new north-south and east-west walkways can serve as the basis for the development of the Park-and-Shop and Tulane Street lots.

Tropical Storm Soaks the Area

The remnants of Tropical Storm Allison passed through Mercer County over the weekend.

Heavy rain passed through the area on Saturday night and Sunday morning. Flash Flood Warnings were issued for Mercer and Somerset Counties at around 8:30 a.m. The stage at the Assunpink Creek in Trenton was at 8.5 feet by 2:45 p.m. Sunday afternoon. The flood stage is 7.0 feet.

Some areas of Mercer County received over three inches of precipitation as a result of the storm, while others received 2.5 inches. Parts of Somerset County were left with over 3.5 inches of precipitation.

For those heading to the beaches this weekend, get caught up on the times for high tide and low tide, get the water temperature, and find out wave heights by calling (732) 830-1366.

Neighbors of the High School Want Referendum Growth Without Asphalt

A group of residents who live on streets in the Princeton High School neighborhood, particularly on Moore Street and Hawthorne Avenue, are advocating "growth without asphalt," as Moore Street resident Norman Winarsky puts it.

Since passage of the Princeton Regional Schools' construction referendum in May, the group — which calls itself the "Green Fields Group" — has been circulating a petition, calling on the school board to "consider site planning alternatives that build on the area's character, while minimizing adverse environmental impacts and loss of green space."

Last week, the group had collected more than 100 signatures. "We will easily double that amount," said Lisbeth Winarsky.

Their position is that the green expanse between the high school and the football field is the equivalent of a town common and should be preserved. The petition reads, "It is an essential part of the historic beauty of Princeton High School as well as an important link in the network of green open spaces which determine the character of Princeton's core residential areas."

TOPICS Of the Town

The Hillier Group architectural firm in its early designs located a parking lot on the field, in back of residences on the east side of Moore Street. The architects have since presented another design that locates a playing field behind the backyards of Moore Street residents, moving the parking lot and tennis courts to Walnut Street, a full playing field width away from the homes.

The new design, which Hillier drew up after meeting with the Green Fields Group, is a step in the right direction, according to group members, who recently met informally with TOWN TOPICS. They are still not satisfied, however.

"Certain issues have never been adequately explained," according to Jenny Crumiller, a Moore Street neighbor of the Winarskys. "We don't understand for example, how the school board's architects arrived at the number of parking spaces needed."

No final parking lot design has yet been approved. Various numbers have been discussed. At one point, according to School Board President Charlotte Blalek, the plan was to reach a total of 420 spaces to accommodate both middle school and high school student and faculty parking.

The architects cut out 50 of those spaces. "We want to have somewhere in the mid-300's," Ms. Blalek said on Tuesday, "and we already have more than half that amount."

The neighbors contend that to expand parking spaces to the mid-300s is overkill. Dan Preston, another resident of Moore Street, has conducted an — admittedly unscientific — survey of vehicles that park on neighborhood streets during the school day; and there is a maximum of 50 cars, he says. No more than 50 additional spaces are needed, he argues.

Moore Street resident Beth Healey says she understands the school district is planning for the future. "The problem is, [the district] is creating a parking lot for something that might happen," she points out. "Even if it turns out that we need another parking lot eventually, we can preserve this green space for a little while."

Mr. Preston even insists that the Green Field Group's

NOT A TEAR JERKER

One of the primary causes of the condition known as "dry eyes" is an autoimmune disorder called Sjogren's syndrome. As the body's immune system wages battle with its own healthy tissues, white blood cells known as lymphocytes (which normally protect against infection) turn around and attack moisture-producing tissues throughout the body. This includes the tear glands. People with Sjogren's syndrome cannot produce sufficient amounts of tears to lubricate their eyes. As a result, their eyes feel dry and gritty. Without tears, the surface of the eyes can develop ulcers that can lead to blindness. While there is no cure for the syndrome, symptoms can be relieved and eye damage can be avoided by using artificial tears.

Tears normally keep the eyes moistened and lubricated. However, stinging, burning, and redness will result if enough tears are not produced. Infection and corneal scarring may occur if left untreated. Sjogren's syndrome is a primary cause of dry eyes. MONTGOMERY EYE CARE provides a continuum of vision care services including eye health exams and treatment of vision diseases. Dry eyes can be diagnosed with a dye test or simple eye examination. The Schirmer Test, which measures tear production, may be used. Artificial tears and ointments are the most common treatment for dry eyes. Call us at 609-279-0005 to arrange a convenient eye health exam. We are located at Montgomery Center at 1325 Rt. 206.

P.S. The great majority of the estimated 2 to 4 million Americans with Sjogren's syndrome are postmenopausal women.

concerns are allied with the concerns of the "90 percent" of students who do not drive. "More students are interested in playing fields," he contends.

Performing Arts Center

Both High School Principal John Kazmark and Ms. Bialek point out that an 850-seat performing arts center is part of the referendum plan; and that it will serve not only students, but community members, as well — who must have a place to park.

Dr. Kazmark also says that as rules and work expectations change, there will be more — not fewer — instances in which students will have to drive from school to work. "There is no way the high school can provide transportation to take students to work."

He says he envisions the future high school with its arts center and enhanced gymnasium and athletic facilities as a gathering place for the community. "Not to use it would be a very unfortunate circumstance."

The Hillier Group architectural firm will engage a traffic expert to determine how many parking spaces are needed, Ms. Bialek says. "My feeling is that we want our students parking on the high school campus, where staff supervision is available.

Of course, we want the neighbors to be happy too; and we have kept as many fields as we could possibly fit."

One group of neighbors that is happy is the High School Neighbors Association, which was formed last year to urge the board to construct adequate parking on high school property so students would not park in front of residents' homes.

"We are very pleased with the school board plan," says Phyllis Teitelbaum, a spokesperson for the group. "Given the choice between green fields and a parking lot, almost everyone would preserve green fields; but we don't want students parking in front of our houses. There is a small minority that has a different perspective."

Local Man Arrested, Charged with Possession

A 20-year-old Blue Spring Road resident was arrested on June 14 and charged with possession of CDS, possession of drug paraphernalia, underage possession of alcohol, and using a Township park after closing.

Patrol officer Geoffrey Maurer was on bicycle patrol and observed three males in the park after hours. The accused, Christopher B. Tyler, apparently had three cans of beer in his possession.

A search of the bag containing the beer revealed a baggie with less than 50 grams of marijuana and a glass pipe of the type commonly used to smoke marijuana. Tyler was arrested, but the other two males were not charged.

It's worth saving ... and you can help save it forever.

With 165 acres of open fields, woods and active farmland, it provides the scenic gateway into Princeton from The Great Road.

2) Site for New Athletic Fields
3) Land to Be Purchased by Princeton Day School
4) Mountain Lakes Preserve
5) Land to Be Added to Mountain Lakes Preserve
6) Farmland to be Preserved

Saving this land as permanently protected open space will:

- provide for critically-needed athletic playing fields through dedication of 23 acres as public parkland.
- link Princeton parks with a walking trail that connects across The Great Road.
- protect wooded wildlife habitat and nature trails through dedication of 28 acres as an addition to Mountain Lakes Preserve, and ...
- keep nearly 100 acres in farmland through a conservation easement that will restrict the land from development in the future.

Delaware & Raritan Greenway, the recognized leader in open space protection in central New Jersey, has joined with local citizens, Princeton Day School, and the Princeton community to ensure that this land will remain forever green. Princeton Day School is also fundraising for the acquisition of an 11-acre lot with an existing home. PDS plans to use the home for faculty housing, and the lot as a green buffer.

With help from local citizens who care about preserving this treasured open space, and support from Princeton Day School, we can reach our goal to raise $9.5 million and preserve this land on JUNE 26.

"Coventry Farm is a vital addition to Princeton's preserved open spaces. These 165 acres represent an irreplaceable resource for our community. And the value of preserving this land will be even greater as time goes by."

Running a Red Light Results in Collision

A Matawan man was ticketed for allegedly driving through a red light after his car collided with another at Stockton Street and Library Place June 13.

Police said Parag Tambe was driving on Stockton Street at 10:35 a.m. when he went through a red light and struck a car driven by Elizabeth Barrett of Hightstown, who was traveling on Library Place.

The Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad had to cut Tambe's passenger side door in order to free him. He was transported to the Princeton Medical Center with minor injuries. Barrett suffered minor injuries as well.

Board of Education Names Principal Of Community Park

At their regular meeting of June 19, Princeton Regional School Board members were expected to approve the appointment of Sharon Goldman — currently the principal of Indian Head School in Holmdel — as the new principal of Community Park School. She will be paid an annual salary of $108,000.

Ms. Goldman will replace Toby Kline who announced early this year that she would retire from her position as principal, effective November 1.

The new principal will assume her role in mid-August, giving her sufficent time to work with Ms. Kline to insure a smooth transition, according to Schools Superintendent Claire Sheff Kohn.

Before assuming the principal's post, Ms. Goldman also served as assistant principal in the Indian Head School, as well as assistant principal at Village School, also in Holmdel. She was previously the K-12 reading supervisor in Holmdel; a K-8 reading supervisor in South Bound Brook; a reading teacher in Spotswood; and a regular classroom teacher and reading/math teacher in the New York City Public Schools.

The new principal holds a B.A. degree in elementary education and an M.S. degree in reading from Brooklyn College. She has pursued additional course work beyond the master's degree and her resume includes a long list of other professional development activities.

Ms. Goldman has also served on a board of education. She was a board member in Monroe Township for 10 years, filling the positions of both vice president and president, during her tenure.

Ms. Goldman's appointment comes at the end of an extensive search process that involved input from staff, parents and board members, according to Dr. Kohn. "Because of her breadth of experience in the classroom and at the administrative level, she brings the knowledge, skills and expertise necessary to lead Community Park," Dr. Kohn said.

Ms. Kline has offered to include Ms. Goldman in all major decisions until the new principal takes the helm, Dr. Kohn added.

Superintendent's Contract

The board was also expected to approve a new contract for Superintendent Kohn, to replace the four-year agreement negotiated with her last year.

Following an evaulation of her first year's performance in the job, the board voted to rescind the four-year pact in favor of a new, five-year contract to run from July 1, 2001 to June 30, 2006. Dr. Kohn will receive an annual salary of $156,000, negotiable each year.

"Clearly we think she has done an excellent job," said Board President Charlotte Bialek. "We look forward to many more years with her."

Five Escape Injury After Kayaking Incident

Five people escaped injury on Sunday after the kayaks in which they were riding capsized.

A Township patrol officer was stopped at 6:42 p.m. and advised that there may be some kayaks capsized in the Stonybrook River. The individual who stopped the officer was one of the people in a kayak.

He stated that he and four of his companions began kayaking in the area of Province Line Road and Prettybrook Road. They left there using one double and three single kayaks.

The man also told the officer that all five kayakers became separated, and that his kayak flipped over. He was able to get ashore and get help.

Police responded to Quaker Road near Squatters Grove because this is where the individual believed one of his companions may have been heading. Once at that location, officers heard someone shouting for help. The roadway was flooded, making it difficult to get close enough to see where the victims were located.

Two Princeton residents happened to be in the area with a canoe. They got into the water and rescued an individual who was approximately 100 yards up stream standing in the water.

The other three individuals were all located within minutes at the intersection of Mercer Road and Quaker Road on land. No boats were launched into the water and no rescue attempts were needed.

Police said there were four adults and one juvenile involved. The juvenile and two of the adults are Princeton residents, while the remaining two adults were from Pennington and South Brunswick.

consin, Ohio and New Jersey for 15 years. His father was responsible for traveling to dairy farms that had poor milk production, and putting herds of cows on different diets and regimens of feeding. The job required frequent relocation.

"I didn't find it all that disruptive, because it was a way of life for us" said Chief Michaud. "When you're young, at least in our case, it's something you kind of expected. Every year, sometimes less than a year, we were moving somewhere else.

"It was probably more difficult on my parents than it was on us. They had to do the physical movement of the household."

SAYING GOODBYE: Borough Police Chief Thomas Michaud will retire on June 30 after 35 years of service to the department.

The family settled in the area when Chief Michaud was 15 years old. He attended Notre Dame High School, his tenth school in nine years, served in the United States Army, and afterwards began his career with the Princeton Borough Police Department.

During his career with the department, he attended Mercer County Community College, Trenton State College (now College of New Jersey), and the University of Virginia.

He was finishing his Bachelor's degree when his second wife, Susan, was stricken with cancer. She passed away in 1990 at age 38 while he was attending Trenton State College. Three months later he was appointed as the Borough chief of police and never returned to college.

Now, thirty-five years later, Chief Michaud is planning to take a different route in his life, both figuratively and literally.

Heading For Florida

Chief Michaud and his current wife, Linda, are planning to look for a home in Florida after his retirement in order to "get away from the winters."

"I'm an avid golfer," he commented. "I find it very difficult to play golf in January and February up here. I remember playing in February once when the wind chill factor was 17. The pins were frozen in the cup."

He said his favorite golfer is Phil Mickelson.

"I am rooting for him to win a major," Michaud commented. "I like his aggressive style of play. He attacks the game, and has a philosophy of going for the pin.

"The most phenomenal golfer I've ever seen is Tiger Woods. He is in a class by himself. He is the Michael Jordan of golf."

Chief Michaud admits the transition from the busiest year in his career to retirement will be difficult.

"My wife is very concerned," he said. "She kids me about retiring. My original plan was to retire. I have not looked for employment, however, I have come to the realization that my activity level has been too high to go to a sedentary or quieter lifestyle. I need to keep some activity going.

"I've been offered a couple of part time jobs in consulting and teaching. I have the option, through the New Jersey State Associ-tion of Chiefs of Police, to develop a leadership program that I can teach and offer to police executives around the state.

> "Doing the right thing and being the best you can be both go hand in hand."

"They are urging me to put together a program and offer it to police departments around the state. I'm weighing that opportunity now. I am going to take the summer off, and consider what level of activity I want to pursue. I'm not sure what I'm going to do. Fortunately I have some options, should I want to do something else.

"It would certainly keep the level of activity up. It would take some preparation time not only to develop the program, but to prepare the presentation. I've always enjoyed teaching.

I've taught at various levels in seminars, and various police courses over the years. I've been a guest lecturer at Rutgers. I've had enough exposure to know that it's something I enjoy. So that's an option.

Chief Michaud will complete his term as president of the New Jersey State Association of Chiefs of Police on June 27. The organization has 1200 members, 435 active police chiefs, with the remainder being associate members and retired police chiefs.

"I have what I consider to be a well rounded career in local law enforcement," he said, "whether it be the business community, the academic community, school enviroment or citizens at large. I have found that Princeton has changed dramatically over the years, especially in terms of the activity in town, the community activities.

"Princeton has become more of a destination for visitors, more of a bustling environment. Last year we had two presidential visits in six weeks. That's a major undertaking for law enforcement.

"I have spoken to other chiefs from communities of comparable size. Many of them have not had the experiences I've had because of the nature of Princeton. It seems to attract more attention, attract more people, more activities, and more interest in general.

"Being a university town, Princeton is known throughout the world. No matter where I go, when I tell people where I live, they've all heard of Princeton, know of Princeton, and know where it is, even in Europe."

Departmental Changes

Chief Michaud not only talked about changes he has seen in Princeton, he also talked about some of the changes he has seen in the department during his 35-year career.

"One of the biggest changes is the use of technology," he said. "When I came on, we only had a few walkie talkies, none on foot patrol. There were little red call boxes around the Borough, used for calling in fires.

"Today patrol cars have laptop computers that transmit data over the airwaves. They have radio frequency connections between our laptop computer and police computers at headquarters, which are tied into state and national computers.

"Officers can put in names of individuals to see if they are wanted, and license plate numbers to see if a car is stolen. Plus they can talk and send administrative messages. That level of technology has been dramatic over my lifetime, and has been the biggest change.

"Technology has changed in terms of criminal investigation forensics as well. There are more effective ways to find fingerprints with laser equipment, there is the use of DNA, and there are different techniques for photography."

The Borough chief of police during the height of the technology transformation was Michael Carnevale, someone Chief Michaud admired greatly.

"I always admired his professionalism, and his sense of principle," he commented. "He did a tremendous amount to professionalize this department. There was a lot of turmoil during the 70's, and he brought us through those storms.

"I hope I've been able to pass on the same level of professionalism that Carnevale passed on to me. Chuck (Davall) is a very strong leader, a very capable young man. I imagine that he will take this department to yet another level. He has all of the stuff necessary for a good leader. He is a people person.

> "One of the biggest changes is the use of technology. When I came on, we only had a few walkie talkies."

Chief Michaud watched nostalgically on Monday as three new officers prepared for their first day in the field. He spoke with them, and gave them priceless advice.

"I told them to look at this as the first day of a career, not a new job," he said. "When you're building a career, you're building a history of performance. Doing the right thing and being the best you can be both go hand in hand."

Chief Michaud concluded by saying, "I'm leaving feeling good about some of my accomplishments. I always tried to be innovative, tried to improve a thing or two. I hope I have done that."

TRENTON ROUNDUP

E-Z Pass Discounts

E-Z Pass users will soon receive a 2-cent toll discount on the Garden State Parkway. The state transportation commissioner said last week that the discount will be in effect by October. Other agencies, including the NJ Turnpike Authority and the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey already offer discounts to E-ZPass users.

Just Abstain

The Senate Education Committee passed a bill last week that would require New Jersey schools to emphasize abstinence in sex education courses. It now goes to the full Senate for a vote. The Assembly has already passed a version of the bill, S-868.

Opponents of the bill include Bear Atwood, a spokeswoman for Planned Parenthood of Central New Jersey, who pointed out that children will suffer if schools do not have enough time to teach them about contraception.

"They have fewer and fewer minutes to spend on health education at a time when children need it the most," Ms. Atwood said. "This would send contraception to the back burner, and as a parent, I don't want that to happen."

Scholarship Bill

State Senators Peter Inverso (R.-Hamilton) and Anthony Bucco (R.-Boonton) have introduced legislation that would create scholarship programs for students pursuing careers in nursing, teaching, science and high tech industry. The students would pledge one year of work in the state in exchange for every year of scholarship support.

The scholarships would apply to both two- and four-year programs, and would provide from $4,000 to $10,000 per year in aid, depending on a student's grades and years of employment in the state.

The legislation would also provide scholarships to foster children who lack the means to pursue higher education.

Property Tax Rebate

The average property tax rebate will more than double this year for as many as 1.3 million New Jersey residents, under a bill signed into law on June 18, by acting Governor Donald DiFrancesco.

Rebates last year averaged $240, under the NJ Saver program; the average rebate will be $500 this year. It is expected to increase to $600 in 2002, officials said.

The program's purpose is to give taxpayers direct relief from local school taxes. Governor DiFrancesco said the property tax rebate, combined with the federal tax refund will give the average New Jersey family an additional $1,100 this year. Rebate checks are expected to begin going out in September.

Internet Gambling

New Jersey's attorney general is bringing the state's first prosecution against online casinos, claiming that the off-shore companies violate state laws by taking bets. Internet gambling violates the law, according to state officials; and safeguards to prevent children from wagering with online casino operations are insufficient.

In lawsuits filed on June 18, state authorities asked a Superior Court judge to order the companies to stop taking bets from New Jersey residents and from advertising in the Garden State.

New Jersey authorities have no idea how many residents use Internet casinos, and they are unsure exactly how many online gambling operations exist.

Princeton High Graduation Speakers Stress Responsibility and Cooperation

Student speakers set the initial tone at Princeton High School graduation ceremonies, June 18, exhorting one another to "charge full speed ahead to the future," as Elizabeth Hyon expressed it, without forgetting the roots from which they came.

Jessica Lee, president of the Class of 2001, welcomed the parents, friends, faculty and staff members in attendance and introduced Student Council President Gerard Reddy, who remarked that during the last few days, "clique boundaries have been erased." He advised his classmates to continue to "expand, not narrow" their reach, after they graduate.

Jeff Montour provided his own definition of "class spirit," which, he said, was "to be each other's backbone."

Ms. Hyon suggested that a graduation is something like a wedding, with elements of both the old and the new. "We already have something blue!" she added, pointing to her gown. She urged fellow graduates to draw inspiration from the successes they have already achieved, and to use it to inspire others.

Paul Kafasis, the last student speaker, remarked "We are becoming what was once considered the future." One way to approach the uncertainty of the days ahead, he said would be to "think of six tmpossible things before breakfast," like the Queen in Alice in Wonderlond.

Graduation speaker Gene Budig, a Princeton resident who is senior advisor to the Commissioner of Baseball and a member of the faculty at Princeton University, urged the graduates to take responsibility for the world around them as they enter the future.

Previously the head of three major state universities — Illinois State University; West Virginia University; and the University of Kansas — where he was also a professor of higher education finance, Dr. Budig has been responsible for administering multi-billion dollar budgets.

In athletics, he served as president of the American League for six years; as a major general in the U.S. Air Force, his last assignment was assistant chief, National Guard Bureau; and in education, he administered $8.1 billion in educational funds, both public and private.

Not Debatoble

One of his conclusions, he told the PHS graduating class, is, "The line between the haves and the have-nots is not debatable. "There is a disproportionate distribution of wealth in the world; and many men and women believe the problems of poverty are harder to eradicate than the problems of race.

"The universal handicap is poverty," he reiterated, "it hits the very young the hardest; and it causes lasting effects. We need creative minds, leaders who respect individual rights and human potential [to solve the worldwide problem of poverty]."

Princeton youngsters, he pointed out, "are the fortunate ones. Princeton High School graduates are known for their desire to make a difference. They are not easily intimidated. They have led, as you must ..."

High School Principal John Kazmark and School Board member Howard Wainer presented the Class of 2001 to the board.

Dr. Kazmark, whose last day in the district will be June 29, when he leaves to become superintendent of schools in Mountain Lakes, thanked the class "for being one of the nicest groups of young people I've ever gotten to know." He stressed the values of communication with others and of cooperation, saying "Without cooperation all other advances are superfluous."

He suggested that competition with which society is rife, is often "little more than comic relief for problems we are unable to solve."

Howard Wainer, who presented a diploma to his son Samuel Palmer, pointed out that commencement "by its very nature marks the beginning of a new and therefore uncertain stage in a life."

Noting that 2001 is the 314th anniversary of both the founding of the town of Princeton and the publication of Sir Isaac Newton's Principio, he commented on the brief certainty that Newton's discourse on the laws of gravity provided to the world.

"A natural, if unanticipated consequence of three centuries of scientific exploration that has followed Newton's Principia has been an increase in uncertainty ..."

Part of the uncertainty inherent in graduation is not knowing who in the graduating class will succeed, he said. "It is safe to predict that those among you who will make the most extraordinary contribution to society, have not yet fully identified yourselves by your performance at Princeton High School."

Promising that the graduates will never again "enjoy the false security that comes from unawareness of uncertainty," Dr. Wainer said, "if your education has been successful, you will, I hope, better understand the uncertainty you face."

—Anne Rivera

"Wild" Portobello Mushrooms

This recipe comes from my daughter, Anne, a graduate student in English at the University of Rochester. In order to make this recipe vegan, she uses the Soya Kaas brand of mozzarella. I use a heavy hand with the balsamic vinegar in this dish. I have tried several different balsamic vinegars in this recipe and I think that the best flavor comes from colavita balsamic. The recipe requires only about a half hour of preparation time.

8 Portobello mushrooms
1½-2 cups balsamic vinegar
8 cloves garlic
1 cup wild rice or ½ cup wild rice and ½ cup basmati rice
8 scallions, sliced
12 ounces mozzarella cheese, thinly sliced

1. Wash mushrooms and remove stems. Place balsamic vinegar, garlic, and mushrooms in skillet over medium heat. Cook until mushrooms are thoroughly cooked.

2. Rinse rice in cold water. Place in pot with 4 cups of water. Bring to a boil, then lower heat and simmer until tender, about 45 minutes. Drain. Add scallions.

3. Preheat oven to 350 degrees F.

4. Place mushrooms in a baking dish along with the balsamic vinegar used to cook them. Heap a portion of the rice and scallion mixture on each mushroom and top with slices of mozzarella.

5. Bake just until mushrooms are heated and cheese melts, about 20 minutes.

Three Juveniles Charged After Police Find Golf Cart

An 18-year-old Brickhouse Drive resident and two 16-year-old juveniles were arrested on theft charges June 14.

On June 6, Township police received a report of the three males riding a golf cart in the roadway. Police arrived and found no one around.

About one-half hour later police received another call of three male juveniles driving a golf cart through the backyard of a house on Riverside Drive. Police arrived on the scene and found the 1999 Spec golf cart abandoned at the intersection of Riverside Drive and Balsam Lane. It had been reported stolen the previous day from Princeton University.

Police said a witness observed the males riding away from the scene on bicycles. They were apprehended a short while later.

The 18-year-old juvenile is identified as Alan McCullough. All three were charged with receiving stolen property and unlawful taking of a means of conveyance. One of the 16-year-old males was also charged with possession of drug paraphernalia (pot pipe).

Jim Treffinger

Essex County Executive To Speak at Nassau Club

Essex County Executive Jim Treffinger will speak at a breakfast sponsored by the Republican Association of Princeton, on Tuesday, June 26, at 7:30 a.m., at the Nassau Club.

Mr. Treffinger's political career spans more than two decades, beginning in 1980, when he was first elected Councilman in Verona, Essex County. Since his election to the position of county executive eight years ago, he has been known for instituting major reforms in the county's fiscal tax system and is working to implement welfare reform mandates.

An attorney, Mr. Treffinger received his J.D. degree from Rutgers University School of Law. He earned his undergraduate degree in history from Seton Hall University in 1972, where he was selected as the second Fulbright scholar in that university's history.

The public is invited to the breakfast, for which there is a $14 charge. For reservations, call 924-3829.

Red Cross Blood Drive To Take Place June 23

The American Red Cross of Central New Jersey will hold a blood drive on Saturday, June 23, from 8 to 1:15, at its Princeton Chapter, 707 Alexander Road, Suite 101. The need for blood is particularly critical during the summer months.

The only requirements for donors are that they be at least 18 years of age (17, with parental consent) and weigh at least 110 pounds.

For more information, call 951-8550.

Seeking Participants for Silicone Implant Study

Marc Alan Drimmer, M.D., F.A.C.S., in conjunction with McGhan Medical Corporation, a global leader in breast implant technology, is currently seeking participants for a clinical study of silicone breast implants. You may be a candidate if you are considering surgery involving:

- Enlargement of normal breasts.
- Breast reconstruction following mastectomy.

The purpose of this study is to gather data on the safety and effectiveness of silicone-filled breast implants. Participation will require annual office visits for ten years. Limited compensation will be provided for each scheduled office visit ($100 per visit, increasing gradually to $200 at the 10th year visit). OTHER THAN THIS LIMITED COMPENSATION, ALL FEES FOR SERVICES AND PRODUCTS ARE THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE STUDY PARTICIPANTS.

Shirley Tilghman Takes Office As Princeton's 19th President

Shirley M. Caldwell Tilghman, a member of the Princeton University faculty since 1986, was elected Princeton's 19th president at a special meeting of the Board of Trustees on June 15. She will succeed Harold T. Shapiro, who last fall announced his intention to retire from the presidency at the end of this academic year, following more than 13 years of service.

Dr. Tilghman, teacher and world-renowned scholar and leader in the field of molecular biology, was elected upon the "unanimous and more than enthusiastic" recommendation of a search committee composed of trustees, faculty members, students, and staff, according to Robert H. Rawson, Jr., chair of the trustees' Executive Committee, who also chaired the search committee.

Shirley M. Caldwell Tilghman

"Dr. Tilghman epitomizes Princeton's fundamental commitments to scholarship, teaching, and service to others," said Mr. Rawson. "Her character and her outstanding human qualities have made her a valued colleague among her peers and an inspiration to her students.

Dr. Shapiro described the appointment as a "distinctive and wonderful moment in Princeton's history. Professor Tilghman is an eminent scholar and teacher, and is certain to lead Princeton into a new era of achievement and distinction. Princeton is fortunate indeed to have attracted a person with such broad-based commitments to the welfare of all parts of the Princeton community and to the broader world of scholarship, education, and public service."

President Tilghman thanked the trustees for "this opportunity to lead a university that I have come to admire greatly over these past 15 years. As the result of Harold Shapiro's leadership, the University is in extraordinarily good shape to face the new challenges and opportunities that lie ahead of us. I know that I have much to learn over the coming months, but I also know that I can depend on the advice and counsel of all members of the Princeton community, from our faculty, staff, and students here on campus to the trustees and alumni family."

"Soul of University"

Dr. Tilghman was originally one of five members of the faculty elected to serve on the 18-member Presidential Search Committee. According to Mr. Rawson, at one meeting, "Professor Tilghman had to leave early to teach. In her absence, the rest of the committee agreed that it wanted to ask her to become a candidate. Once she became a candidate, she withdrew from the committee. As sorry as we were to lose her good counsel, we were absolutely delighted to be in a position to recommend her."

Dr. Tilghman, 54, joined the Princeton faculty in 1986 as the Howard A. Prior Professor of the Life Sciences. In 1998, she took on additional responsibilities as the founding director of Princeton's multi-disciplinary Lewis-Sigler Institute for Integrative Genomics. The Institute's broad interdisciplinary mission — to study fundamental biological problems that depend on taking large amounts of information about genes, proteins or structures and revealing how they are integrated into a coherent whole — grew out of Dr. Tilghman's role as one of the architects of the national effort to map the entire human genome.

New President

Her own academic work has focused on mammalian genetics, in particular the role that genes play in the development of the mammalian embryo. She is a member of the American Philosophical Society, the National Academy of Sciences, the Institute of Medicine, and the Royal Society of London.

Professor Tilghman is renowned not only for her pioneering research, but for her national leadership on behalf of women in science and for promoting efforts to make the early careers of young scientists as meaningful and productive as possible.

She received national attention for a report on "Trends in the Careers of Life Scientists" that was issued in 1998 by a committee she chaired for the National Research Council, and she has helped launch the careers of many scholars as a member of the Pew Charitable Trusts Scholars Program in the Biomedical Sciences Selection Committee and the Lucille P. Markey Charitable Trust Scholar Selection Committee.

Distinguished Teaching

From 1993 through 2000, President Tilghman chaired Princeton's Council on Science and Technology, which encourages the teaching of science and technology to students outside the sciences, and in 1996, she received Princeton's President's Award for Distinguished Teaching. She has taught first year undergraduates as well as postdoctoral students.

She has also participated actively in teaching and other programs for alumni, having given more than a dozen on-campus talks for alumni on Alumni Day, at Reunions, and on other occasions. During recent years, she has traveled extensively to speak with alumni at many locations.

Like Dr. Shapiro, President Tilghman is a native of Canada. Born in Toronto, she attended high school in Winnipeg, Manitoba. She received her Honors B.Sc. in chemistry from Queen's University in Kingston, Ontario, in 1968, and after two years of secondary school teaching in Sierra Leone, West Africa, she earned her Ph.D. in biochemistry from Temple University in Philadelphia.

During postdoctoral studies at the National Institutes of Health, she made a number of ground-breaking discoveries while participating in cloning the first mammalian gene. Then, as an independent investigator at the Institute for Cancer Research in Philadelphia and as an adjunct associate professor of human genetics and biochemistry and biophysics at the University of Pennsylvania, she continued to make scientific break throughs in understanding the structure and mechanism of expression of mammalian genes during development.

Set the Blueprint

Two years after arriving at Princeton, Professor Tilghman also joined the Howard Hughes Medical Institute as an investigator and began serving as an adjunct professor in the department of biochemistry at the UMDNJ-Robert Wood Johnson Medical School.

Her interest in genome analysis stems from her participation in the National Research Council's committee that set the blueprint for the U.S. effort in the Human Genome Project, and she was one of the founding members of the National Advisory Council of the Human genome Project Initiative for the National Institutes of Health.

She has been a trustee of Rockefeller University in New York; of the Jackson Laboratory, a mammalian genetics institute in Bar Harbor, Maine; and of Cold Spring Harbor Laboratory on Long Island. She has also been a member of the Advisory Council to the Director of the National Institutes of Health and a member of the Scientific Advisory Board of the Whitehead Institute for Biomedical Sciences at MIT.

A Lake Drive resident and single parent, Dr. Tilghman is the mother of two children, Rebecca, 20, a member of the Princeton class of 2002, and Alex, 18. Both are graduates of Princeton High School.

Dr. Tilghman is the second woman to lead an Ivy League institution. The first was Judith Rodin, the president of the University of Pennsylvania. In July, Ruth J. Simmons, a former vice provost at Princeton University and president of Smith College, will become president of Brown University.

Princeton will hold an official inauguration ceremony for President Tilghman in the fall, at a date to be announced.

Artist Depicts Scenes Along the D&R Canal

An exhibit and sale of recent paintings by Biff Heins will take place at the historic Blackwells Mills Canal House, on Saturday, June 23, from 10 to 5; and on Sunday, June 24, from 12 to 5.

Mr. Heins, essentially a self-taught artist, studied briefly at the Art Students League in New York City and with watercolor artists Randulph Bye and Jack Garver.

The watercolor and oil paintings in this exhibition depict outdoor scenes and scenes along the Delaware and Raritan Canal.

Paintings by Mr. Heins are in the corporate collection of Bristol Myers Squibb, Lawrenceville, as well as in other corporate offices, and in many private collections.

Better known for his work in the field of antique furniture restoration and conservation for the past five decades, the artist has now turned his full attention to paintings inspired by local scenes, as well as by his travels across the country and abroad.

For more information, call (732) 873-2218.

AT BLACKWELLS MILLS: This watercolor painting by Biff Heins, entitled "Snowdrops," is one of a number of the artist's recent paintings that are part of an exhibit, "Here and There," at Blackwells Mills Canal House on Saturday, June 23, and Sunday, June 24. For information, call 732-873-2218.

University Art Museum Will Be Able to Keep Painting Acquired During Second World War

The Princeton University Art Museum recently reached an agreement with the heirs of a Nazi-era art collector, who owned an Italian Renaissance painting by Bernardino Pinturicchio, St. Bartholomew, that has been part of the museum's collection since 1994.

Heirs of Federico Gentili di Giuseppe, a Jewish resident of France who died of natural causes in 1940, had sought to have the painting returned to them. The recent settlement ensures that the museum will retain and display the painting, as it has done since purchasing it.

The museum acquired the painting from French and Co., an art gallery in New York City. Since its acquisition, the painting has been on public display in the museum and has been featured in museum publications.

After Gentili di Giuseppe's death, his art collection was sold at a public auction in Paris by order of a French court in German-occupied France. In 1998, the di Giuseppe heirs brought legal action in France to have the April 1943 sale nullified.

The Court of Appeals of Paris court held that the then-living descendants of di Giuseppe had been prevented from attending to the administration of his estate due to the German occupation of France. It voided the sale of five paintings that had been part of the auction.

Following the court's ruling, the Art Museum and the di Giuseppe heirs began discussions about Pinturicchio's St. Bartholemew, even though it was not one of the five paintings named.

In determine the painting's value, the museum and the heirs commissioned independent art appraisals; and the museum agreed to compensate the heirs for the agreed-upon value. French and Co. also participated in the compensation agreement between the museum and the heirs.

Sistine Chapel Work

Pinturicchio (c.1454-1513), a native of Perugia, Italy, collaborated with Perugino (Pietro di Cristoforo Vannucci) in 1481-2 in the Sistine Chapel in Rome, and quickly established his reputation as a painter of distinctive and picturesque decorative cycles.

"Pinturicchio's Saint Bartholomew foreshadows the High Renaissance," said Betsy Rosasco, associate curator of later Western art at The Art Museum. "Pinturicchio comes very close here to the young Raphael, who was a student of Perugino, the major master in Perugia, Italy, and an artist with whom Pinturicchio collaborated.

"The painting dates from a critical moment in Central Italian art, and is a perfect work for a teaching museum."

Federico Gentili di Giuseppe's prior ownership of the Pinturicchio painting will be acknowledged by The Art Museum, which will continue to display the painting in the Renaissance galleries.

"The Princeton University Art Museum is fully committed to the responsible resolution of ownership claims concerning World War II-era cultural property," said Susan M. Taylor, director of The Art Museum.

"We are delighted that this great painting by Pinturicchio will remain available to the museum's public for its enjoyment and education, and we are profoundly grateful to the Gentili di Giuseppe heirs and to French and Co. for working so diligently with us to reach a just and amicable conclusion to this matter," she added.

1860 House Will Hold "Starry Night Gala"

A benefit gala for 1860 House (the Montgomery Cultural Center) will take place on Saturday, June 30, from 6 to 10, at the Forrestal Marriott, Princeton Forrestal Village, Route 1 and College Road.

An elegant dinner, lively and silent auctions, and entertainment, are on the agenda; and Rising Star Scholarship awards will be presented.

Those who attend the "Starry Night Gala" will take away mementos that are original works of art, created by members of the Professional Artists Association, who exhibit year-round in the upstairs gallery at the center.

The artists have donated dozens of small pieces, mainly works on paper, as keepsakes for everyone attending the benefit. The event will also feature performance pieces by other artists-in-residence/staff members.

Artists include Catharine Vaucher, 1860 House executive director and artistic director of Animoge, Patrice Sprovieri, painter; Richard Demler, nature photographer; Joy Barth, painter; and Idaherma Williams, printmaker. Williams Gallery Artists Are in Statewide Show

Two artists who show their work at The Williams Gallery, 6 Olden Lane, are participating in the New Jersey Printmaking Exhibition, through July 14, at the PrintMaking Council of New Jersey, 440 River Road, Somerville.

Artists Susumu Endo and Roman Verostko, best known for their use of digital techniques combined with traditional methods of printing, will each have two pieces in "Folio: Private Collections Unveiled."

Mr. Endo's two photolithographs, Spoce ond Spoce & Noture 6 and Spoce & Spoce/Verticol-I will be on display. Mr. Endo transfers photographs to the computer, where he can change colors, reverse darks and lights, and stretch or modify shapes until he achieves his goal. Works in the "Space and Nature" series are simultaneously abstract and representational.

Mr. Verostko, professor emeritus, Minneapolis College of Art and Design, has pioneered the development and creative use of a personal "epigenetic" art — in which he uses computer software to express personal artistic preferences and to generate totally original works of art automatically. He is showing two plotter paintings — DLA Cyperflower/Voriotion and DLA Aureole V.

For more information about the artists, call Mary Lou Bock, at the Williams Gallery, at 921-1142. For information about the printmaking exhibition, call (908) 725-2110.

Would You Steal from These Kids?

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following up on their initial park workday in April, Princeton Girl Scouts successfully completed re-landscaping the front entrance to Turning Basin Park, on Alexander Road, on May 6.

Nearly 30 shrubs, valued at $700, were planted. About $200 of the funds had been earned by the Girl Scouts, with the balance generously donated by the Princeton Garden Club and The Princeton Shade Tree Commission. Plantings also included in-kind donations from Kale's Nursery, Obal Garden Market and Rutgers Plant Nursery.

Unfortunately, not more than three weeks after the planting, when the girls returned to the park on June 11 for their final work day, they found that eight of the larger shrubs (valued at $250) had been stolen! This is not the lesson that we hoped to impart when we started on this project ... that you can't trust people in your own small town.

We hope some kind donor will come forth to help us replace the stolen plants. Let's have the final lesson that the girls learn from this experience be a positive one, not a negative one.

People wishing to donate funds or shrubs should contact Princeton Girl Scouts Adopt-A-Park Director, Shari Powell at 430-1610, or mail a check to 328 Christopher Drive, Princeton. (All replanted shrubs will be wired into the fence or ground until they are large enough to be difficult to steal).

Thank you for your consideration.

The YM-YWCA Lot Is Not Available For Parking Use by General Public

To the Editor of Town Topics:

We, too, are very concerned about the parking situation in the downtown Princeton area, and understand that a new parking garage may not enhance the beauty of the city center. However, we must make it very clear that our parking lot is not available for general public use as stated by Helmut Schwab in his letter to the editor in your June 13 edition.

The YMCA-YWCA parking lot on Paul Robeson Place is jointly owned by both organizations, and is available only to member participants of those organizations while they are on the premises. At any given time, the parking lot is full to our own members, who must drive around until a space is free. There is no way we could hope to accommodate more Princeton residents.

We all wish for much success in finding a solution to the problematic parking situation.

Assembly Speaker Urged to Allow Vote On Bill Requiring Childproof Handguns

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Children are killing each other every day! Speaker of the New Jersey Assembly Jack Collins refuses to take out of committee Bill A 2898. Seventy-five percent of Republicans will vote for it, but Mr. Collins insists there is no technology to make handguns safe for children.

The public must prevail in this crucial situation. We must let democracy work and bring A 2898 to a vote.

Dancers' Abilities Were Not Questioned In Recent Review of Pro Musica Concert

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In response to Mark Germond's letter to the editor [TOWN TOPICS, May 23] concerning my review of Pro Musica's recent concert, the written program to the concert indicated that the choreography of Ms. Whitney-Marcuard and Ms. Chandler-Vaccaro was done some time ago for another performance and paired with the Barber work, most likely at Ms. Slade's suggestion.

Ms. Slade has a great imagination for multi-media performance, and my point was that given how well the orchestra played the Barber Adagio, it really did not need a dance accompaniment that was not especially written for that music. I have no doubt that these two choreographers present great performances on a regular basis.

The music critics at TOWN TOPICS always appreciate the feedback of audience members — there is always room for one more view on the world of music.

New Jersey School Boards Association A 'Company Union' & Taxpayer Rip-Off

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In order to prevent my removal, suspension or censure as an elected member of the Princeton Regional School Board, I was forced to attend so-called ethics training by the New Jersey School Boards Association.

This training consists of a taxpayer-funded weekend at the Doral Forrestal Hotel where, in addition to overeating at lavish gourmet buffets, newly elected board members are instructed about conflicts of interest and other matters relating to school board activities. Never before have I encountered a situation where a public official can be accused of an ethical violation for refusing to allow tax dollars to be spent on him, but that is what is happening in the topsy-turvy world of the New Jersey Department of Education.

Although I am currently in my fifth year as a school board member, the regulations require all newly elected board members to attend training sessions. There are no exceptions allowed. The School Ethics Act treats all board members worse than kindergarten students. All newly elected officials, regardless of their knowledge or experience, are forced to sit through lectures and seminars designed for people who are assumed to know nothing. Yet, in order to get elected to the school board, they must have known something.

The purpose of having an elected school board is to give ultimate responsibility for financial and personnel decisions to people who have no financial relationship with the school district. The school ethics training undermines this fundamental purpose by requiring all new board members to attend what is really a junket at public expense.

That is why the ethics training is required of all new board members, before they serve long enough to see it for what it really is, which is a bribe. If a private entity had paid for my weekend at the Doral Forrestal, the ethics act would require it to be reported if the cost exceeded $250. The district's fee for attending ethics training is $235 (half the actual cost). In other words, an outside expenditure of $250 spent on a board member is considered primo focie a potential conflict of interest, but when paid by the taxpayer it is called training.

So, in order for me to maintain my independent judgement, I am going to have to reimburse the district the $130 commuter fee that was paid on my behalf. I resent this situation, and consider that I have been the victim of a mugging by the School Ethics Committee and the New Jersey School Boards Association. If the New Jersey Department of Education can not figure out a way to deliver ethics training to school board members in a more economical and convenient manner than requiring a weekend at a luxury hotel, it is no surprise that the school system is failing one third of the students who enter it.

.The New Jersey School Boards Association is basically a political lobbying organization created by the legislature for its own benefit, but funded by local school boards. It opposes things like buying books for poor pre-school children (they can use the library) and is lobbying against pending legislation to provide 12 weeks paid leave for teachers who have babies or adopt children. It does, however, support things like stiffer penalties for school bus drivers who get traffic tickets. Never mind that it makes it more difficult to find bus drivers, who already earn little.

The School Boards Association opposes state mandated full-day kindergarten (unless the state pays), but has no objection to the state mandate that every school board must belong to the New Jersey School Boards Association itself, even though the dues are raised through local taxation. I can reimburse the school district the $130 for ethics training, but who is going to reimburse the Princeton Regional School District for the more than $23,000 a year in dues it costs to belong to the Association? The New Jersey School Boards Association is like a company union. The Boards are required to belong, but the organization represents the interests of the legislature, rather than the membership.

There are about 600 school districts in New Jersey. Yet, a quorum for the New Jersey School Board Association delegate assembly is 50 boards from at least 11 of the 21 counties in New Jersey. Who ever heard of an organization where a quorum to do business is less than 9 percent of the membership. Only about one quarter of the boards normally show up at these meetings.

A decade ago, the State Commission of Investigation recommended, as a means of preventing financial abuses and excesses, that board membership in the New Jersey School Boards Association be made voluntary.

Some Things Should Never Change

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Three cheers for the Community Park Pool and Larry Ivan. After some 35 years we're glad that some things never change!

EVELYN & JEROME SALDICK
Randall Road

I hope that during the coming gubernatorial and legislative campaign this year, the voters of Princeton will help me by urging candidates for election this November to support the State Commission of Investigation's recommendation to make membership in the New Jersey School Boards Association voluntary. The millions of school tax dollars annually spent at luxury hotels, resorts, and on liquor, belongs instead in the classrooms with the children who need it most.

The state legislature and Department of Education Ethics Committee are using technicalities to make it illegal for anyone who is unwilling to participate in this waste of school tax dollars to serve on a local school board. Willingness to spend weekends at luxury hotels at taxpayer expense should not be a mandatory qualification for school board membership.

New State Program Will Provide Prescription Discounts for Seniors

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As the HomeFriends Director of The Princeton Senior Resource Center I have recently learned of an important new State program available to older adults.

Senior Gold is a new prescription discount program for the elderly and disabled whose income is too high to qualify for the regular State pharmaceutical assistance, PAAD.

New Jersey residents whose income is between $19,238 and $29,238 for a single, or between $23,589 and $33,589 combined for a couple, may be eligible. Senior Gold informational brochures and application forms are available at The Suzanne Patterson Center and the Princeton Senior Resource Center at Spruce Circle.

Please let your older relatives and friends know about the program as a way to help combat the high cost of prescription drugs.

Elegant Dining, First Class Golf and Special Events Are What Distinguish Forsgate Country Club

BEST ROUND: "We are really set apart by two very beautiful and challenging golf courses. They are unique. Of course, we also offer all our other services, too." Jeanette DeMeglio, director of marketing and public relations at Forsgate Country Club, is shown on the club's terrace, overlooking the famous Banks golf course.

Old world elegance, gracious dining, and a first class golf facility are all seamlessly interwoven at Forsgate Country Club. Located at 375 Forsgate Drive, Monroe Township, this well-known golf club also offers public dining for lunch and dinner.

Forsgate has a long and intriguing history, dating to 1896, when John Forster, a poor Scottish immigrant, founded Crum & Forster Insurance Company, which became a success.

In 1913, he purchased 50 acres of land in Monroe Township, developing it into a self-sufficient farm community, raising horses, chickens, and dairy cows.

Named Forsgate (a combination of his name and his wife's family name: Gatelin), the farm featured apple orchards, a greenhouse, and an agricultural center.

In the late 1920s, inspired by the world-famous courses in his native Scotland, golf-lover John Forster set out to create golf links on his farm. He commissioned renowned golf course architect Charles "Steamshovel" Banks to design it, and each hole was modeled after a famous hole in Europe.

By 1939, Forsgate Farm was known throughout the tri-state area for its quality dairy and produce items, and the golf course had become one of the premier east coast golf attractions.

Many Tournaments

Over the years, it was host to many tournaments, and to such well-known golfers as Arnold Palmer, Chi Chi Rodriguez, Lee Trevino, Nancy Lopez, Amy Alcott, and Kathy Whitworth.

An additional 18-hole course, the Palmer (with 10 holes featuring water hazards), was completed in 1971, designed by famed golf course architect Hal Purdy.

Because of Forsgate's impressive setting, it attracted non-golfers as well, and in 1955, the Dining Room was opened to the public.

Today, Forsgate, owned by RDC Gulf Group, Inc., continues to build on its rich tradition and is always seeking to enhance its services, says director of marketing and public relations Jeanette DeMeglio.

"The special thing about us is customer service. The management and employees at Forsgate work hard every day and strive to make the service here the best it can be. We want to make Forsgate better than anywhere else.

IT'S NEW To Us

"The training of the entire staff is very important," adds clubhouse manager Fred DeRogatis. "We all work very closely together."

In addition to lunch and dinner, Forsgate does a big business with special events and catering. It is a popular setting for wedding receptions, special occasions of all kinds, and corporate events.

Meetings and conferences are a growing part of the Forsgate service, and a variety of special rooms, such as the Edinburgh and the St. Andrews, are available for these purposes.

Beautiful Setting

The Northern Highlands Ballroom can accommodate 600 people, and there is also a special Bridal Suite for the bride's change of wardrobe.

The outdoor Formal Gardens offer a beautiful setting for a wedding — both ceremony and reception — with a sweeping view of the golf courses and surrounding greenery.

Also popular is the fitness center and exercise room, and there is also a lighted tennis court.

Lunch and dinner, featuring American cuisine, has become a Forsgate highlight, adds Ms. DeMeglio. People from all over the Princeton area come to enjoy a leisurely meal and also look upon Forsgate as a special place to take guests.

"We have a super chef," notes Mr. DeRogatis. "All our food is very fresh and seasonal. A specialty is seafood, and crabcakes are one of our signature dishes. Also Black Angus products. We have great steak, and our Angus burgers are excellent."

Customers enjoy the choice of dining in the informal Tartan Grille or the more formal Stirlings, with its fresh linens and gracious ambiance. Such dishes as grilled tuna steak with jalapeno and cilantro compound butter, and horseradish-crusted salmon fillet with chive beurre blanc, are specialties, as is the super mesclun greens salad with bacon, pecans, ripe pear, blue cheese and balsamic vinaigrette.

Special Theme

Dinners at Stirlings are in the $14.95-$24.95 range, while the Tartan Grille offers sandwiches from $7.95, as well as a range of popular items, such as homemade meatloaf, Atlantic coast crabcake, and Forsgate's own chicken pot pie, from $9.95.

Forsgate is also introducing special theme food festivals each month, with a lobsterfest scheduled for July.

In addition, an elegant Sunday brunch, featuring champagne, is very popular.

For golfers, Forsgate has much to offer, of course. Private and corporate memberships are available, and the 800 members include people from as far away as Staten Island and Brooklyn, N.Y., as well as from this area.

"We have such a beautiful setting, and both golf courses are popular," points out Ms. DeMeglio. "We also have an unbelievable golf shop, with top-of-the-line clothing and equipment."

Forsgate has been recognized by the New Jersey Golf Course Owners Association as "The Best Private Golf Course in New Jersey", and it was also listed among the top 10 New Jersey Courses by "The Jersey Golfer."

Golfing outings and packages are also available for non-members. Corporate and non-corporate groups can be accommodated, and Forsgate will coordinate all the details and services, including golf, food, banquet facilities, prizes, and professional staff.

"There is really no place like Forsgate in the area. It is unique," says Ms. DeMeglio. "My favorite part of the job is helping to create and enhance its image, what we stand for. I look forward to letting people know what a unique facility this is, and what spectacular service we offer."

Adds Mr. DeRogatis: "I always admired Forsgate even before I worked here, and it has been more than I expected. I have a passion for this business. It's almost not like a job. It's a great place to be. And it's a wonderful feeling when you can help to make someone's day better!"

Forsgate offers gift certificates for dining, and hours for lunch at Stirlings are Tuesday through Saturday 10:30 to 2; dinner 5 to 9; Sunday brunch is 11 to 3. Tartan Grille is open 7 days 11 to 9 continuously. 732-521-0070.

Stationery, Gifts, Home Decor and "Celebrations" Are Focus of Lawrenceville's New "Euphorbia" Shop

One of the prettiest new shops in the area has to be Euphorbia. Located at 6 Gordon Avenue in Lawrenceville, it offers a variety of stationery, gifts, and items for the home in a charming setting. Good taste sets the tone in this imaginative gift boutique.

The name is certainly intriguing and owner Mary Harrison notes that "Euphorbia is a botanical family of shrubs, succulents, and perennial plants. I'm a gardener and have a big flower garden at home, so this appealed to me.

"It is also a beautiful metaphor for the artistic diversity we offer, and it is an allusion to 'euphoria', the feeling of happiness and well-being we are committed to sharing with our guests."

Ms. Harrison, whose background is in catering and wedding consulting, had always hoped to have her own business. "I wanted to have a store, and I was especially looking for a house because I thought it would showcase the items in the way I wanted. And I also wanted to have grass and a garden!"

Fortunately, the right place became available last winter — a small house dating to the 1920s — and it was perfect for Ms Harrison's new venture, even enabling her to have an art gallery upstairs.

"I also like being in Lawrenceville," she adds. "It has a strong main street organization, and I'm getting a lot of walk-in traffic. There has been a very warm welcome."

Artistic Remodeling

After an artistic remodeling, the house was opened to the public the end of May, and Ms. Harrison is enthusiastic. "I'm so excited about the whole thing. It's been in my head so long, and now it's a thrill to see it actually happen. Just coming here, opening the door, and then having people come — it's all wonderful!"

Being able to share the items she has chosen is also special for her. A lot of care and attention to detail have gone into her selection and presentation.

"I have tried to weave light, color, texture, and fragrance into a tapestry of artistic expression," she explains. "Sparkling jewelry, hip handbags, fragrant soaps and candles, silk pillows and sachets, decorative boxes, and stylish gifts for baby are among our collection.

"In addition, you can rediscover the romance of paper with our portfolios of the most unique invitations, imprintable cards and announcements. Whether you are looking for whimsy or formality, you will find the perfect style to express yourself."

"Celebrations"

Ms. Harrison has many sample books of invitations and personal stationery that are not found elsewhere in the area.

"I also have imprintable invitations," she adds. "They already have a design, and you can run them through the laser printer. In addition, I will offer completely original custom graphic design by area designer Susan Syzmanski."

SPECIALTIES: "I try to have things that no one else has. I want to offer very special items." Mary Harrison, owner of Euphorbia, holds a charming Estelle Billot silk "Moon" pillow, featuring French inscriptfon. Also shown are special "Seatbelt" handbags. In assorted sizes, they are made from seatbelt material in such colors as "Ferrari Red" and "Lexus Gold", among others.

Also available are Anna Griffin's "Home Office" file folders in stripes and floral designs, an alternative to manila. Also popular are the handbound guest books, journals, and albums of Molly West. in addition, Ms. Harrison has a selection of her own hand-done cards made of fabric and ribbon.

"Celebrations" or wedding consulting continues to be an important part of her business, she adds. "The gifts are a fun extension of this. My idea was to have a combination of things. I hoped people would come in and get a lot of things at once. If you're planning a party, for example, you can get invitations, etc., and I can help plan it with you.

"I also have a website — www.euphorbiashop.com — for wedding consulting. It can just be people coming in needing help for an hour and a half. They suddenly realize they have to plan an event for 150 people! I can give them guidelines, a working budget and referrals. Or I can help them with the entire event from beginning to end."

When customers come to the shop — whether for consulting or retail items — they will find a wonderfully eclectic selection. Scented candles and soaps make welcome hostess gifts, with Votivo candles in various fragrances very popular.

Whimsical Designs

For that person who has everything, there are delightful paper clips in butterfly, dragonfly, and ladybug designs. A box of six is $12.50. The same company also offers memo clips in similar designs at $3.25 each.

Fun curved and beaded bookmarks are "Jewelry for your Book" at $15, and especially attractive is a selection of framed vintage labels of French soaps and toiletries.

Pretty linen guest towels with whimsical designs of lipstick and vintage bathtubs are $35 for two, and linen cocktail napkins are four for $30.

Jewelry includes a variety of colorful necklaces, bracelets, and earrings, as well as hair jewelry, and there are also lovely evening bags in many designs.

Baby items feature soaps and lotions, as well as rubber ducks, little pillows and books.

Ms. Harrison also enjoys putting together custom "Relaxation" gift baskets, including candles, soap, and aromatic lotions, etc.

Gift items at Euphorbia range from $12.50 to $100 and up, with everything in between. Gift certificates and free gift wrapping are available.

"I really look forward to being a part of the community," says Ms. Harrison. "I enjoy meeting all the people who come in. They are all ages — kids to grandparents — and they are all enthusiastic about the shop. A little girl came in the other day to get a gift for a friend, and I always enjoy taking time with people to help them find the right item.

"I look forward to everyone coming, spending time and sometimes even having a cup of tea with me. Just look for our signature welcome outside — the vintage English bike with a basket of flowers and the "OPEN" sign!"

Hours are Tuesday through Saturday 10 to 5:30 and by appointment. 896-4848.

MUSIC & THEATER

Univ. Summer Concerts Presents Claremont Trio

The second program in the Princeton University Summer Concerts' series will feature the Claremont Trio (violin, cello, and piano) on Tuesday, June 26.

Composed of twin sisters Julia and Emily Bruskin (cello and violin) and Donna Kwong (piano), the Claremont Trio won First Prize in the 2001 Young Concert Artists International Auditions. They first played together at the Taos School of Music in New Mexico in 1999.

The Trio has performed in New York at Steinway Hall, Columbia University, and The Juilliard School, and played the Beethoven Triple Concerto with the Lake George Chamber Orchestra.

The Claremont spent the summer of 2000 in residence at the Norfolk Chamber Music Festival. In November, the Trio will make its New York debut at the 92nd Street Y, opening the 41st season of the Young Concert Artists Series.

Trios by Haydn, Ravel, and Dvorak will be featured at the June 26 performance, which takes place at 8 p.m. in Richardson Auditorium in Alexander Hall on the Princeton University campus.

Free tickets (a maximum of four per person), required for admission, will be distributed on a first-come, first-serve basis at the Richardson Auditorium box office beginning at 6 p.m. on the night of the concert.

Concert-goers are also welcome to picnic on the grass behind Alexander Hall before each concert. Other concerts in the chamber music series will feature the Corigliano Quartet on Thursday, July 12, and the Moscow String Quartet on Tuesday, July 24.

TWINS AND TRIO: The Claremont trio, composed of Donna Kwong, pianist (left) and twin sisters Julia and Emily Bruskin (cello and violin), will appear in the second program of the Princeton University Summer Concerts' series on Tuesday, June 26.

Folk Singer Bob Norman To Perform June 30

Bob Norman, nationally known singer, songwriter, guitarist, and harmonica player, who lives in Lawrence Township, will perform on Saturday, June 30 at the Village Picnic in Lawrenceville.

The picnic is sponsored by the Lawrenceville Main Street Project, an all-volunteer organization that has worked to refurbish and revitalize downtown Lawrence.

The picnic will be held from 12:30 p.m. to 3 at Weeden Park on Main Street, and Mr. Norman will perform from 1 to 2.

His multifaceted career in folk music has spanned 30 years, and he has performed in major clubs, coffeehouses, and festivals from Boston to San Diego. His songs have been performed by a dozen other artists, including Pete Seeger, who called Mr. Norman's first album Romantic Nights on the Upper West Side, "a warm and wonderful bagful of very singable songs."

Mr. Norman recently completed his eighth annual tour of the Northeast, in support of his third Night Owl CD of original songs, Love, Lust & Lilacs.

The picnic is free and open to the public, and will feature other entertainment for adults and children, as well as food.

Thursday Night Concerts At the Shopping Center

The Princeton Shopping Center continues to host the annual free concert series in its park-like courtyard on Thursday evenings. Attendees are welcome to bring lawn chairs and blankets and enjoy the live sounds of big band, jazz, brass ensemble, Dixieland, pop, show tunes, and rock 'n' roll.

Princeton hometown talent Billy Hill and his band will perform Thursday, June 21 (raindate, August 2), and the Blawenburgh Band, New Jersey's oldest community band and perennial favorite, will play June 28, with Sousa marches, George M. Cohan tunes, and other popular American concert band music.

Saturday afternoon concerts are also being held this year, with the Joseph Scanella Dixieland band on June 23, and Nassau Brass, led by Glenn Kaufman, on June 30.

Neil Simon Play Opens Season At Summer Theater

Princeton Summer Theater 2001 (PST 2001) will present Neil Simon's Barefoot in the Park, opening on Thursday, June 21 and running through the remainder of that weekend, as well as July 5 through 8.

Barefoot in the Park marks PST's 28th season, and its grand reopening following the renovation of its home in Hamilton Murray Theater. It is the first of two shows Princeton Summer Theater's Artistic Director, Sarah Rodriguez, will direct this summer. Her second, Much Ado About Nothing, will be Princeton Summer Theatre's third production this summer, from July 27 to 29 and July 5 through 8.

Ms. Rodriguez's previous directing credits include Duck Variations for Princeton University's Theatre-Intime and, most recently, two short original plays presented as part of Theatre-Intime's annual Student Playwright's Festival.

Appearing in the lead roles in Barefoot In the Park are Clifford Sofield and Erin Gilley, who will both direct for PST later this season.

Mr. Sofield is a veteran actor and director in the community, and Ms. Gilley appeared in Noah Haidle's Spaghetti Western an original play produced by Princeton University's Program in Theater and Dance, and directed The House of Yes for Theatre-Intime.

Also featured are local actors Joe Pennino and Debbie Goodkin.

Showtimes for Barefoot In the Park are 8 p.m. Thursday through Sunday, with 2 p.m. matinees on Sunday. Prices are $12.50 for adults, $10 for Seniors, $7 for students and children. Additional discounts are offered to subscribers and to large groups.

For reservations, subscriptions, and information, call 258-7062.

A CARNIVAL FOR KIDS: A Children's Carnival will take place at All Saints' Church, 16 All Saints' Road (off Terhune Road), Saturday, June 30 from 12 to 4. Rain date is July 1. There will be games, refreshments, crafts, storytelling and more for children 3 to 10. Here, two young parishioners, Laura Patterson and Alexandra Griner, practice making sand mosaic bottles. Proceeds from the carnival will support the church's youth mission trip to Florida with "Passport" this July. For information call 921-2420 or log on to www.allsaint.org.

Opera Festival of New Jersey Will Present Puccini's "Turandot" at McCarter Theatre

Opera Festival of New Jersey will present Puccini's Turondot on Saturday, June 30, also July 8, 13, 21, and 26 at McCarter Theatre.

The production will be sung in Italian with English subtitles projected above the stage.

Puccini's final masterpiece, Turandot is the story of a Chinese princess who will marry the first man to answer her three riddles. Starring in the title role is Anna Shafajinskala, who has portrayed Turandot with Welsh National Opera and at Opera royal de Wallonie.

She will also be performing it at The Royal Opera House, Covent Garden, New Orleans Opera, and Teatro San Carlo di Napoli. This production marks Ms. Shafajinskala's U.S. debut.

Ms. Shafajinskala, a native of Ukraine, joins conductor Michael Ching, director John Hoomes, and a large cast to bring Turandot to Opera Festival's stage.

"This cast is superb! The principals are all seasoned professionals, some with Met credits, and this production is allowing our chorus to shine as well," said Opera Festival general director Karen Tiller.

In addition to Ms. Shafajinskala, the cast includes Allan Glassman (Calaf), who has appeared at The Metropolitan Opera in Modama Butterfly, Di Fledermous, Faust, and Luiso Miller.

Theresa Cincione (Liu) makes her Opera Festival debut in Turandot. Past engagements include Jenufa, Rigoletto, Elektro, Manon, and Carmen with The Metropolitan Opera as well as Die Meistersinger and Alcina at Lyric Opera of Chicago.

Scott Altman (Timur) returns to Opera Festival after last year's Falstaff and Six Characters in Search of an Author. Other past engagements include Macbeth, La Fanciulla del West, La Boheme, and Carmen.

This year SummerFest returns to its roots with a vibrant season of music, dance, art, and film events, all with an international flavor.

The set is designed by Ron Kadri, and the costumes by Helen E. Rodgers with the assistance of the tdf Costume Collection. Lighting is by F. Mitchell Dana, who is in his 13th season with Opera Festival.

Turandot will be conducted by Michael Ching, who is the general artistic director of Opera Memphis, and who returns after last season's Carmen. John Hoomes, who

Rutgers Summerfest To Open June 28 With Music and Art

The Afro-Cuban All Stars and leading edge art by established and up-and-coming artists will open Rutgers SummerFest 2001, a month-long celebration of art, film, music, and dance produced by the Mason School of the Arts at Rutgers-New Brunswick, June 28 to July 28.

Two gala receptions on the 28th will welcome SummerFest patrons to the opening of concurrent art exhibitions. "Installed Collections/ Collections Installed" is being mounted for the festival by Mason Gross and The Jane Voorhees Zimmerli Art Museum.

The receptions, free and open to the public, will take place at the Mason Gross Galleries at Civic Square, 33 Livingston Avenue, and the Zimmerli Museum on Rutgers' campus at George and Hamilton Streets, 5 to 7:30 p.m.

"Installed Collections," the exhibit at Mason Gross Galleries, features work from seven private collections, ranging from American prints to contemporary leading edge artists. Works by Peggy Bacon, George Bellows, Grant Wood, Thomas Hart Benton, Winslow Homer, Will Barnet, Deborah Butterfield, Nancy Cohen, Nan Golden, Catherine Opie, and James Goebel are presented by theme.

The Zimmerli show focuses on works by recent distinguished graduates of the Master of Fine Arts Program in the Visual Arts Department at Mason Gross School of the Arts.

Like Rutgers alumni and renowned artists George Segal and Alice Aycock, these MFA graduates continue Rutgers' tradition as important contributors to the leading edge art scene. Artists include award-winning alumna Helen Zajkowski, whose pieces are made from thousands of lottery tickets and express the unfulfilled wishes of all those who buy them.

Other MFA alumni represented are Judith Schumacher and Alicia Wargo.

The Grammy-nominated Juan de Marcos, the acclaimed Afro-Cuban All Stars, and legendary pianist Ruben Gonzalez will appear at 8 p.m. Thursday, June 28 at the State Theatre on Livingston Avenue.

Afro-Cuban All Stars consists of a 13-member band spinning four generations of Cuba's finest musicians. The multi-generational approach to music combines the experience of the elder musicians with the vitality of the new generation, creating a different and energetic sound.

The band was nominated for a 1998 Grammy Award, and has received recognition and numerous honors for its high level of musical ability.

Cuban producer, composer, arranger, and music director Juan de Marcos is a proponent of the worldwide Cuban music boom, and initiator of the Buena Vista Social Club project.

Celebrate the miraculous tones of wood that sing!

It is their world, too.

Since 1981, we have worked to protect the environment, from our choice of woods to the lights in our store. But for whom? We protect the flora for its beauty, but also for the fauna who dwell in it. For the past 50 years, SAVE has worked to care for animals of all kinds right here in our community - healing wounds, finding homes, and speaking out. We applaud SAVE, and for the month of June, White Lotus will donate a portion of every sale to help support SAVE in their efforts.

Actor John Lithgow To Appear at MarketFair

Actor/author John Lithgow, a Princeton High School alumnus, will appear at Barnes & Noble in the MarketFair Shopping Mall, on Sunday, June 24, from 2 to 3.

He will speak to the audience and sign copies of his latest children's book, The Remorkoble Farkle McBride, and of his CD, Singing in the Bothtub.

The recipient of many awards for his work in film TV, and theater, Mr. Lithgow plays Dick Solomon in the hit comedy series 3rd Rock from the Sun for NBC-TV. He has been nominated twice for an Oscar — for his performance in The World According to Gorp, and for his role in Terms of Endearment.

He has had numerous other starring film roles and has appeared on Broadway 15 times — most recently in the 1998 Tony Award-winner, M. Butterfly.

Mr. Lithgow's first book for children — published by Simon & Schuster — is illustrated by C. F. Payne, best known for his editorial and advertising pieces. The story concerns a musical child prodigy who learns to play one instrument after another, but soon loses interest because he can't stand the way each instrument sounds by itself.

At the age of 10, he discovers his true calling: conducting the orchestra, where all instruments play together.

For more information about the Barnes & Noble event, call 716-1570.

Library Will Host Tales Of the Unknown

The truth is out there somewhere and Princeton Public Library, 65 Witherspoon Street, will be searching for it on Wednesday, June 20 at 7:30, when it hosts a program for young people, ages 10 and older, titled "Tales of the Unknown."

Veteran performer Terry Parrett describes his program as "a 45-minute journey into mystery, mayhem and mindreading."

The audience will hear tales of revenge from beyond the grave, watch demonstrations of strange artifacts and participate in experiments in mentalism," says Mr. Parrett, who performs this program and others in libraries throughout the country.

Mr. Parret last appeared at the library in the Wizard's Workshop program in April. His appearance is one of 80 summer events detailed in the library's program guide, @yourlibrary, available throughout the library.

Summer Concerts At Westminster Begin June 25

Westminster Choir College of Rider University will begin its summer concert series with a hymn sing on Monday, June 25; a sing-in on Tuesday, June 26; a Songfest 2001: "Musical Discoveries" On Wednesday, June 27 at 8 p.m.; and a recital on Thursday, June 28.

Unless noted otherwise, the events will begin at 7:30 p.m. in Bristol Chapel on the Westminster campus at the corner of Hamilton Avenue and Walnut Lane. Admission is free.

On Monday, June 25, Mark Trautman will lead participants in a hymn sing. Mr. Trautman earned a bachelor's degree cum loude in organ performance from Towson University in Baltimore and a Master of Music degree with distinction from Westminster.

He is a member of Pi Kappa Lambda, a national music honor society, and a member of the Middlesex Chapter of the American Guild of Organists.

He has performed throughout the Northeast as an accompanist, conductor, and organist in concert and on radio and television, and served as guest conductor of the New Brunswick Chamber Orchestra in 1997 and 1998.

Since 1994, Mr. Trautman has served as director of music at Christ Church, where he conducts a semi-professional choir and coordinates the award-winning "Lunchtime Recital Series."

On Tuesday, June 26, Heather J. Buchanan will conduct audience members in a sing-in of the choral masterpiece, Fauré's Requiem. Participants are encouraged to bring their own scores; however, a limited number will be available for borrowing at the door.

Ms. Buchanan is assistant professor of conducting at Westminster, where she teaches graduate and undergraduate choral conducting. She is also conductor of Westminster Schola Cantorum, which is composed of students in their second year of study at Westminster.

Since May 2000, she has been artistic director and conductor of The Greater South Jersey Chorus, a community choir based in Cherry Hill, and in October 2000, she was appointed Chair of Repertoire and Standards for Youth and Student Activities for ACDA New Jersey.

Born in Brisbane, Australia, she earned a bachelor of music degree from the Queensland Conservatorium of Music in Australia and a master of music degree in choral conducting and music education from Westminster.

MUSIC AND DANCE OF THE RROMA PEOPLE can be heard Friday, October 5 at 8 p.m. when the Fanfare Ciocarlia presents Gypsy Caravan at McCarter Theatre.

Stephen Sondheim has been a pivotal force and innovator in the world of musical theater for more than 40 years. This concert will feature both well-known and obscure songs from his catalog, as well as vocal works from the talented generation of young Broadway composers whose music shows Sondheim's influence, including Adam Guettal, Michael John LaChiusa and Jonathan Larson.

Performing in this concert will be Serena Benedetti, soprano; Marcus DeLoach, baritone; and pianist J.J. Penna. Noted area performer, Peter D. Wright, is the arranger for the Sondheim compositions.

On Thursday, June 28, Katherine McClure, flutist and Esma Pasic-Filipovic, pianist will appear in recital. The program will include works by Telemann, Hoover, Debussy, Berkeley, Beethoven, and Vaughan Williams.

Ms. McClure is on the faculty of Westminster Conservatory and The Lawrenceville School.

Ms. Pasic-Filipovic, on the piano faculty at Westminster Conservatory, earned her Master of Musical Arts degree at the University of Novi Sad, Yugoslavia. She has won numerous piano competitions in Yugoslavia as well as Bosnia and Herzegovina.

Before arriving in the United States, she was the accompanist for flutist Raphael Leone of the Vienna Symphony and Olivera Miljakovic of the Vienna State Opera.

For complete information about all of Westminster's concert offerings, call the concerts office weekdays between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. at 921-2663 ext. 308. For 24-hour concert information, call 219-2001.

The concert schedule is also available on the Westminster web site: http://westminster.rider.edu.

Sing-In Soloists

Soloists for the sing-in are Tricia Kersh, soprano and Douglas Millar, baritone. Ms. Kersh graduated from Westminster with a Bachelor of Music in voice performance.

Her recent concert engagements include Fauré's Requiem with The Greater South Jersey Symphony and Chorus and the Pottstown Symphony, Brahms' German Requiem with Masterwork Chorale, and Mozart's Requiem with the West Village Chorale in New York City.

She is equally at home on the operatic stage, appearing in Spoleto Festival USA's productions of Gluck's Iphigénie en Touride as a priestess, Puccini's Suor Angelica as the Novice, and Weil's Die Bürgschoft and Janacek's Jenufa as a member of the Westminster Choir.

Baritone Douglas Millar has a master's degree in voice performance from Westminster, where he studied with Marvin Keenze, and was a member of the Westminster Choir.

Mr. Millar also sings with the choirs of Trinity Church, Princeton, and is an adjunct voice faculty member at the Lawrenceville School. He made his debut with Westminster Opera Theatre last October as Pa Moss in The Tender Land and this past season as Peter Quince in A Midsummer Night's Dreom.

Sondheim & Company

The concert on Wednesday, June 27, is the third program in the Westminster Summer Songfest 2001: "Musical Discoveries" series and is entitled "Sondheim and Company." The series was developed by pianist J. J. Penna. This concert will begin at 8 p.m.

Theater Workshop To Explore Art and Craft

Margaret "Moggie" Davis, a founder of the Forum Theater Company of Metuchen, and a veteran actor, director, and producer, as well as a children's theater specialist, will lead the inaugural season of the 1860 House/Montgomery Cultural Center Summer Art Camp Theater Arts Workshop, which begins on June 25 and runs for two weeks.

Ms. Davis will work with children between the ages of 8 and 12 to explore the craft of theater from different angles, and to varying degrees, encompassing developmentally appropriate emotional and critical sensibilities.

Beginning with conventional theater "warm-ups" or games, and moving into theatric genres of comedy, drama, and improvisation, Ms. Davis will guide the young performers in musical numbers and scene-studies, drawing set pieces from both little-known and familiar works, as well as developing familiarity with set and costume design.

Ms. Davis intends to imbue students with an appreciation for the process of performing and a substantive sense of stagecraft as well, limiting the size of the group to allow each performer to have an authentic theater experience.

"Through studying the different aspects of theater as well as the mechanics of production and performance," she says," I hope to foster an understanding, but ideally an awakening in each child about exactly how rewarding a journey in this art form can be."

Registration is currently under way for Theater Arts Workshop and all summer camp classes; call Susan Bell at the 1860 House to obtain an application or more information at 921-3272.

Peddie Announces Summer Theater Series

This marks the 12th year that the Summer Theater Series at the Peddie School will present a summer season. This season will again include productions of both the Peddie Community Players as well as the Princeton Opera Association.

The season opens on Thursday, June 28 with the Perry Award-Winning company, Peddie Players' production of John Guare's comedy, Six Degrees of Seporotion. Presenting four performances on consecutive days, Six Degrees of Seporotion will close on Sunday, July 1.

The summer season will close with Princeton Opera's production of Stephen Sondheim's musical, Merrily We Roll Along, weekends, July 21 through July 29. All Sunday performances are matinees at 2 p m., and performances on all other days are at 8 p.m.

All performances are held in the William Mount-Burke Theatre on the campus of the Peddie School.

Tickets for Six Degrees of Seporotion are $10 each and $15 for Merrily We Roll Along, or both shows may be purchased for a total of $20.

PEOPLE in the News

Yusef Komunyakaa, Princeton University professor of the Council of the Humanities and creative writing, has been awarded this year's Ruth Lilly Poetry Prize. The $100,000 award is one of the largest poetry prizes in the United States and recognizes extra- ordinary literary accomplishment.

Joseph Parisi, editor of Poetry magazine and chair of the selection committee for the prize, said, "In a period when many writers of narrow focus have coasted along by composing variations on one or two themes — and some have even built careers with barely a single new idea to speak of — Yusef Komunyakaa has impressed us again and again by his breadth of vision and the originality of his ever-evolving style.

"From the start, he dazzled the cognoscenti with his prodigious gifts for image-making and story-telling in poems of unusually dramatic, or rather, cinematic impact."

Professor Komunyakaa won the Pulitzer Prize in 1994 for Neon Vernacular: New and Selected Poems. His most recent work, published this year, is titled Pleasure Dome: New and Collected Poems, 1975-99.

The U.S. Department of Energy has selected Ken Young, Grandview Road, Skillman, a physicist at the Princeton Plasma Physics Lab, as the recipient of its Distinguished Associate Award.

The award cites Dr. Young for his role as "the leader of diagnostics development for the Tokamak Fusion Test Reactor, his subsequent contributions to the breakthrough measurements which are the TFTR legacy, and his very real efforts in behalf of collaborative fusion physics research, both within the U.S. and abroad. His dedicated efforts have had a major impact on the diagnostics systems that bind theory and experiment together in advancing fusion."

Dr. Young, who holds his Ph.D. from Princeton, was head of the lab's international off-site research division until he retired this year. During his more than three decades at PPPL as a fusion researcher and plasma diagnostics specialist, he was involved in moving forward the concept of how diagnostics are used on fusion experiments.

John Morgan, Tuxford Court, Trenton, assistant professor of Economics and Public Affairs at Princeton University, is one of 12 scholars awarded a W. Glenn Campbell and Rita Ricardo-Campbell National Fellowship for the 2001-02 academic year.

The fellowships provide junior scholars with a year free from teaching to advance their careers. The fellows work on an original research project at the Hoover Institution at Stanford University.

Professor Morgan's research topic is "The Art of Conversation: How the Flow of Information in Organizations Affects the Quality of Decision Making and Expert Advice."

Paul Kurland, who conducts a clinical practice in psychotherapy and family counseling at 20 Nassau Street, has been recertified as a board certified diplomate in clinical social work (BCD) of the American Board of Examiners in Clinical Social Work. BCD recertification is an annual process.

Mr. Kurland, who has practiced in Princeton for the past 27 years, served as both the executive and clinical director of the Family Service of the Princeton Area from 1974 to 1994. After retiring in 1994, he continued his work in private practice with a particular focus on issues of personal stress at home and work, sexual dysfunction, divorce readjustment, and psychological issues of retirement.

KLINGENSTEIN FELLOW: Princeton resident Kara Kling, a middle school English and history teacher at Stuart Country Day School was chosen to attend the two-week Joseph Klingenstein Summer Institute in June. Sponsored by Teachers College of Columbia University, the Institute offers a full fellowship, including tuition for four graduate credits as well as room and board, for teachers in the beginning years of their careers.

Chris Campbell, Castleton Road, and Brian Wilby, Plymouth Court, students at Syracuse University, Syracuse, New York, spent the spring semester studying in Florence, Italy, through the university's Division of International Programs Abroad. Mr. Campbell was a senior majoring in architecture, while Mr. Wilby will enter his sophomore year at the university in the fall. He is majoring in arts and sciences.

Also spending the spring semester in Florence was Ryan Hoagland, Curtis Avenue, Pennington. Mr. Hoagland will enter his senior year at Lafayette College. He is majoring in economics.

Julie Nachamkin

Princeton resident Julie Nachamkin recently joined Cushman & Wakefield of New Jersey Inc., as a broker specializing in both tenant and landlord representation in the Middlesex County industrial real estate market, as well as in corporate service account management. She is based in the firm's Iselin office.

Ms. Nachamkin has served as a marketing consultant for a variety of clients in the Princeton area; and she worked in corporate acquisitions for a private investment firm, Plimpton & Co. Inc.

From 1982 to 1989, she worked with Cushman & Wakefield in both office and industrial real estate transactions involving leasing, acquisitions and dispositions.

Ms. Nachamkin is a graduate of Penn State University and also studied at the Universidad de Salamanca in Salamanca, Spain. She is a marathon runner and a member of the Mercer Bucks Running Club, the New York Road Runners Club, and the U.S. Track and Field Association.

She has been a member of the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society "Team in Training" and in April 2000 was named the Society's top fund raiser.

James Peebles, Markham Road, the Albert Einstein Professor of Science, Emeritus, at Princeton University, has been awarded the Harvey Prize in Science and Technology.

The prize is given by the Technion-Israel Institute of Technology, a prominent research university in Israel, to recognize breakthroughs in science and technology.

James Peebles

Prof. Peebles earned the award for his "seminal contributions to the understanding of the origin of our universe and for [his] leadership in defining the challenges of modern cosmology during the past 40 years," said Lawrence Jackler, president of the American Society for Technion, which helps fund the award.

Prof. Peebles is a theoretical cosmologist whose studies of the evolution of matter in the earliest moments of the universe were critical in the establishment of the Big Bang theory as a widely accepted model.

He arrived at Princeton as a graduate student in 1958, received his Ph.D. in 1961 and immediately joined the physics department faculty as an instructor. He retired last year.

Princeton Junction resident Jenna Gilfoil, a freshman majoring in music industry and voice in the School of Visual and Performing Arts at Syracuse University, Syracuse, N.Y., traveled with the University's Hendricks Chapel Choir in May to Poland and the Czech Republic for concerts in Warsaw, Czestochowa, Cracow, and Prague.

Skillman resident Lindsey Mapes, a freshman majoring in social work at Syracuse University's School of Social Work, participated in a spring break build in Florida with the university's chapter of Habitat for Humanity.

OBITUARIES

F. Mary Mason, founder of Miss Mason's School, died June 3, a day short of her 91st birthday, at Tenacre Foundation.

She was born in Glens Falls, N.Y. and graduated from Wheelock College in Boston.

She settled in Princeton, where she founded Miss Mason's School in 1935 at Rose Cottage.

As headmistress, Miss Mason said that she developed curriculum programs "to take advantage of her students' desire to learn in ways that the children were comfortable with, harnessing their cooperation and joy."

Miss Mason's School then moved to the Bowers Building on the corner of Nassau and Harrison Streets.

In 1946, she formed the Miss Mason's School Foundation, which bought the stone building on 53 Bayard Lane for the school's new home.

After closing the school in 1982, her foundation became the Mason Early Education Foundation and continued to develop curriculum, selling the programs throughout the United States.

At this time, the Foundation board of directors sold the building on Bayard Lane and donated the proceeds to the Newgrange School and the school equipment to Princeton Junior School.

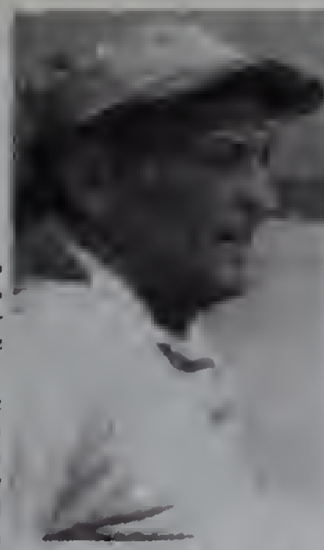
Miss Mason lived at Tenacre during the last years of her life.

She is survived by a niece, Denise Morocco of Connecticut; and three nephews, Dr. Peter Brigham of Boston, Bruce Brigham of Seattle, and Steve Mason of Dayton, Ohio.

George Cook Young, 82, of West Tisbury, Mass., and a longtime Princeton resident, died suddenly on June 13 of natural causes.

Born in Lawrenceville, he was raised in the Princeton area, attended the Princeton Junior School and Rumsey Hall School, and graduated from the Hotchkiss School in 1937.

He received his degree frown Princeton University, where he was captain of the championship 1940-41 hockey team. He continued to play hockey as a member of the St. Nicholas Hockey Club and coached little league hockey for many years.



George Cook Young

In recent years be was honored by both Princeton and Princeton Day Schools For his athletic achievements.

During World War II, he served as a 1st Lieutenant and Captain in the U.S. Army Field Artillery stationed in the Asian Pacific Theatre. After the war, he began a career with New York City Bank that lasted until his retirement in 1978.

As part of his job, he completed a management program at the Harvard Business School in 1964, and at the time of his retirement was an officer in the Personnel Department.

His first marriage to the late Marjorie Mann ended in divorce, and in 1950 he married the late Frances Lineaweaver. Over the years the couple resided in Princeton, Lawrenceville, Hopewell and Pennington before moving to their summer home on Martha's Vineyard in 1997.

They had just celebrated their 51st anniversary in February before his wife died of leukemia in May.

An avid golfer and tennis player, he was a member of Bedens Brook Country Club. He pursued his interest in the issues of the day and a love of sports and games of all kinds as a member of the Princeton Old Guard and several less formal groups, some of which he helped organize, and as a regular participant in backgammon tournaments.

He is survived by a brother, Donald and sister, Barbara; two sons from his first marriage, George Jr. and Henry; and three children from his second marriage, Matthew, James and Martha (Young) Tholen. He is also survived by six grandchildren, a number of step grandchildren and step great-grandchildren.

A memorial service to be held in Princeton will be announced at a later date.

Dennis Edward Jeffries, 54, formerly of Princeton, died June 8.

He graduated from The Lawrenceville School in 1965 and from Bucknell University in 1969. He was a graduate of Miami Law School.

He is survived by his mother and father, Margaret and Edward Jeffries; his wife, Wanza; four brothers, Chris, Mark, Brian, and Kevin; two step-daughters; and three grandchildren.

Emerson Pinelli, 87, of Stanford, Fla., formerly of Princeton, died June 1. Arrangements for private services are being completed.

Anna Kasmarek, 86, of Skillman, died June 14 at Morris Hall in Lawrence Township.

Born in Great Meadows, she lived most of her life in Skillman, where she and her husband operated a Christmas tree nursery for many years.

She was a member of St. Charles Borromeo Roman Catholic Church in Skillman and donated the church Christmas tree for many years.

Wife of the late John Kasmarek, she is survived by many nieces and nephews.

A Mass of Christian Burial will be celebrated Wednesday at 10 a.m. at St. Charles Borromeo Roman Catholic Church.

Burial will follow at Pequest Union Cemetery, Great Meadows.

Antoinette M. Purcell, 61, died June 14 at home.

Born in Kingston, Pa., Mrs. Purcell lived in Doylestown, Pa., before moving to Raritan Township 29 years ago.

She graduated from the College of Misericordia, Dallas, Pa.

Mrs. Purcell worked with the quality assurance division of Aventis Pharmaceutical, Bridgewater since 1987, and had been lab manager of the pathology department of Princeton Hospital for seven years. She previously worked 10 years with Hunterdon Medical Center.

Daughter of the late Anthony and Helen Bucholtz Wisnewski, she is survived by her husband of 36 years, George V. Purcell; two daughters, Dr. Susan Purcell of Ottsville, Pa. and Barbara Purcell-Shirk of Robbinsville; a son, Eric A. Purcell of Raritan Township; and a grandson.

Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated at St. Magdalen Church in Flemington.

Buriel was in Prospect Hill Cemetery, Flemington.

Memorial Service

A celebration of the life of Fred R. Sheldon will be held on Monday, June 25 at 2 p.m. at the Princeton Unitarian Universalist Congregation, 50 Cherry Hill Road.

Jessie H. Holland, 77, died June 4 at the Medical Center at Princeton.

Born and educated in Columbia, S.C., she was a Princeton resident for more than 45 years before recently moving to Lawrence.

Mrs. Holland was a registered nurse with the Medical Center at Princeton for many years, and was also a private duty nurse for several area families. She had studied nursing in Philadelphia.

She was a member of Mount Pisgah AME Church, and served on its trustee board, missionary society, building fund, and senior choir.

Mrs. Holland was treasurer of Elks Lodge Rising Sun Temple 119 Order of the Eastern Star, a member of Aaron Lodge Chapter 8 of Princeton, and state director of charity for the Elks Auxiliary.

She participated in many theatrical productions at McCarter Theatre in Princeton.

Daughter of the late Tony and Bessie Johnson and wife of the late Richard Holland, she is survived by sisters Ada Wallace of Cleveland and Ileva Smith of Cincinnati; step-daughter Denise Craig of Maryland; godchildren and caregivers Betty and Walter Moody of Morrisville, Pa.; special friends and relatives.

Christine R. Spillar, 86, died June 10 in Largo, Fla.

Born in New York City, she was a resident of Jersey City from 1914 to 1971 before moving to Largo.

Wife of the late Joseph L. Racich, she is survived by sons Joseph J. Racich of Princeton, Lawrence T. Racich of Middletown, and Gary P. Racich of Jackson; daughter Jo-Ann Rowe of Toms River; 11 grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren.

The funeral was held at the Mather-Hodge Funeral Home in Princeton.

In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to the Hospice of the Florida Suncoast, 300 East Bay Drive, Largo, Fla. 33770.

STURHAHN, DICKENSON & BERNARD

The strangest trade in major league baseball happened in 1960 when, for the first and only time, 2 big league managers were traded for each other during the season ... The Indians sent their manager, Joe Gordon, to the Tigers for their manager, Jimmy Dykes on Aug. 3, 1960 ... It was an even-up trade, one manager for another.

I bet you didn't know ... SDB Insurance has many insurance markets: Full range of products from long term care, estate planning to insuring bio-technology companies. Please call Jay Bernard for further details.

If you've ever wondered how American League All-Star shortstop Nomar Garciaparra got his unusual first name - it's his father's name spelled backward (Ramon).

No player ever dominated a pro baseball league like Roy Sanner, when he played for Houma, La., in the Evangeline League in 1948 ... Sanner led the league in pitching, winning 21 games and losing only 2 - and when he wasn't pitching, he played the outfield and led the league in hitting at .396; in runs batted in, with 126; and in homers with 34 ... Despite that incredible minor league record, Sanner never got to the majors.

Gil Morgan Holds off J.C. Snead, Tom Jenkins To Repeat as Champion of Instinet Golf Classic

Despite two rain delays on Saturday, and a monsoon of rain that pushed tee times back 4½ hours on Sunday, Dr. Gil Morgan kept his wits about him and won the Senior PGA Instinet Classic at the TPC at Jasna Polana for the second consecutive year.

Morgan ended Sunday's final round with a 69, shot 201 for the tournament, and finished at -15. He took home the $225,000 first prize. J.C. Snead shot -13 and finished tied for second with Tom Jenkins, who eagled the final hole. Both golfers won $120,000.

The win vaulted Morgan from fifth to first place on the money list.

"I'm glad to be here, instead of Jesse (Jesse Carlyle) Snead," said Morgan.

Earlier Snead spoke with CNBC reporter Jay Randolph as they awaited Morgan's approach to the final three holes. At that moment, Snead had pulled to within one stroke of the lead.

"If he was any kind of buddy, he would back off and let an old dog have a bone," Snead joked.

Morgan didn't back off. In fact, he closed out the tournament with a 14-foot birdie at the 16th, and a 10-foot birdie at the 18th. It was the fifth consecutive season that he has won more than $1 million in PGA Senior Tour prize money, it was his 20th Senior championship, and is the third time he has won a Senior Tour championship in successive years. His other victories came at the Tradition in 1997 and 98, and the Comfort Classic in 1999 and 2000.

The toughest competitor, though, on the final day of the tournament wasn't any golfer on the course, it was a tropical storm named Allison. Remnants of the storm blew through the area on Saturday night and Sunday morning, leaving about 2 ½ inches of rain on the greens. Maintenance crews feverishly worked to make the course playable, and by 12:30, the final round began.

STILL THE CHAMP: Dr. Gil Morgan won the Instinet Golf Classic for the second consecutive year, despite several rain delays. (Photo by Charles Phox)

In order to assure that all golfers ended the final round before sunset, half of the participants started at hole number ten, worked their way around the course, and finished at the ninth hole. The remaining participants started at the first hole and finished at the 18th.

Another Tournament Record?

Morgan completed the second round on Saturday afternoon with a 12-under par 132, a 36-hole tournament record.

"I got off to a pretty good start with three straight birdies," he said. "I had a disaster at number eight. My drive went over the green, hit a cart path, and bounced back into the trees. I hit a six iron the second time and two putted for a double bogey. I came back with birdies at nine and ten.

"Anything can happen. There are some disasters out there if you don't pay attention. I was excited to get off to a good start."

The Times, Trenton

"Making its debut in the elite category was St. Francis Medical Center."
The Bergen Record, Hackensack

"There is no real secret...(St. Francis has) tremendously experienced people...."
The Star Ledger, Newark

According to the latest State of New Jersey Report Card, St. Francis has New Jersey's top-rated cardiac surgery program. And no one benefits more than our patients. In fact, we've achieved the best results even though we performed surgery on the highest risk patients.

Under the direction of Glenn W. Laub, M.D., our cardiac surgery program proves you don't have to leave the area for the finest cardiac care. As the only state recognized Regional Cardiac Center in Mercer County, we can provide the full range of cardiac services. So, if you or your family member ever need any cardiac services, make sure your physician refers you to St. Francis.

Charles Earns $34,000 After Super Seniors Win

Bob Charles took home $34,000 after winning the Georgia-Pacific Super Seniors Tournament last weekend. The tournament includes players over 60-years of age, and their scores are calculated after the first 36 holes at the Instinet Classic. Charles finished with a score of 135, two strokes ahead of Rocky Thompson and Mike Hill, who tied for second. J. C. Snead finished fourth with a score of 138.

Instinet Classic

Bob Charles and John Bland finished Saturday tied for second at -9, with a score of 135.

"I got off to a flying start (on Saturday) with birdies on the first four holes, and then it started to rain," said Charles. "I rushed my tee shot at number five. Rain is an occupational hazard I suppose.

"I hit a lot of good iron shots on Saturday, and kept the ball in play. I think I missed just one green. The pins were a little tougher."

Bland talked about his performance on Saturday.

"I had a very steady round," he said. "I hit all of the fairways and all of the greens. It was a comfortable round."

He talked about the rain delays.

"Delays effected us, but the officials gave us enough time to get ready afterwards. It was warm also, which helps. I was happy to break 70 because the fairways were getting quite firm. The rain changed some things."

Charles and Bland were among five golfers who finished the three-day tournament tied for eleventh at -7, with an overall score of 209.

Double Eagle

Morgan got off to a blazing start on Friday with a 9-under par 63. He sank an eagle shot on the third hole, and a rare double eagle at the par-5 hole number seven. It was just the 21st double eagle in Senior Tour history and the first since Brian Barnes accomplished the feat at the 2000 Ford Senior Players Championship.

The 9-under par 63 shattered the course record of 65 set in the 2000 Instinet Classic opening round by Jenkins, Bob Murphy and John Mahaffey.

The 63 by Morgan was the lowest first round score in tournament history, breaking Dale Douglass' record of 64 set in 1987. Morgan matched his best round as a Senior Tour player. It was the fourth time he had shot a 63, the most recent coming at the Bruno's Memorial Classic in April.

"It was a pretty exciting day," Morgan said after Friday's round. The day was a little warm, and I felt I got weak down the stretch. I thought it could have been a spectacular round had I birdied the last couple of par-5's. I didn't play well out of the bunkers."

Morgan talked about the double eagle at the seventh hole.

"I hit a pretty good shot that landed short of the green and bounced in. It was hard to see from where I was standing.

"I was excited after the double eagle. Sometimes it's dangerous to get off to such a fast start. I had some other chances for birdies, but I had some putts that were not in the right position."

The double eagle allowed Morgan to take the lead, as it turned out, for good. He finished the first round two strokes ahead of Jenkins and Bruce Summerhays, who were tied for second at -7, with a score of 65.

TALKING STRATEGY: Princeton Post 218 catcher Andrew Caprariello and pitcher Rian Morrissey talk strategy during the team's game against Broad Street Park Post 313 on Saturday.

American Legion Post 218 Wins Twice, Loses Once

Princeton Post 218 earned two wins and suffered one loss last week to even its record at 2-2 on the young season.

Shortstop Pat Kerlin had three hits, two RBI's and scored once to lead Post 218 over Trenton, 11-1, on June 12. The game was called in the fifth inning due to the ten run rule.

Post 218 sealed the game with four runs in the fifth inning. Starting pitcher Matt Ross (1-0) went the distance and earned the victory. He was 1-for-1 at the plate with two RBI's and a run scored.

Nick Walters scored twice and drove in one run, while catcher Andrew Caprariello had one hit and one RBI in the victory.

Post 218 made short work of Mitchell Davis Post 182 the following night with a 20-4 victory. This game was also called in the fifth inning due to the ten run rule.

Center fielder Joe Tucholski led the Post 218 charge with five RBI's, two hits, including a double and a triple, and two runs scored. Jon Trapasso was 4-for-5 with four RBI's and four runs scored, Rian Morrissey was 2-for-2 with two runs scored, and Max Suguira had two RBI's in the victory.

Post 218 starting pitcher Mark Henry (1-0) went the distance and earned the victory. He allowed just four hits on the afternoon, and struck out 11 Mitchell Davis batters. He also scored three runs.

For the third consecutive game, Princeton Post 218 played just five innings. This time the team lost 7-2 to Broad Street Park Post 313 in a rain shortened affair Saturday afternoon.

Pinch hitter Mike Maguire drove in both runs for Post 218 with a single in the top of the fourth that scored Henry and Morrissey. Tucholski had two hits, while Caprariello and Jim Hoeland each had one hit apiece.

Tucholski (0-2) took the loss. He allowed four hits and four runs in 2⅔ innings. Morrissey came on in relief and surrendered three runs on four hits in 1⅓ innings. Peter Burke was warming up in the bullpen for Post 218 when a downpour of rain halted play.

"Luann" Adult Female Shepherd Mix
June and July are designated official Adopt Luann months. Because she has been at SAVE longer than any of our orphans, we are reaching out to the community to network for Luann. She will be an affectionate, loyal companion. She needs a home with no young children. If you cannot adopt her, call SAVE to see about sponsoring her.

White Lotus Home will donate a portion of June sales to SAVE.
Stop by the store at 202 Nassau Street.
Thank you, White Lotus!

Carrier Clinic to Hold Golf Tourney Monday

Carrier Clinic will host its 16th annual golf tournament fund raiser, the Carrier Classic, on Monday, June 25, at Cherry Valley Country Club, Skillman.

The event is open to members of the community who are interested in playing on the Cherry Valley course and who also support the psychiatric and addiction treatment services provided at Carrier.

The day will begin with registration from 9 to 11; and a golf clinic will take place from 10 to 10:30. A breakfast buffet will be served from 10:30 to 11:45, to be followed by a Shotgun Start tee-off and later, a cocktail hour, dinner, raffle and awards ceremony in the evening.

Participants will have the opportunity to enter a hole-in-one contest for a 2001 Chrysler Sebring convertible, courtesy of the Belle Mead Garage.

Other prizes will include one week's vacation at a golf resort of the winner's choice, tickets to sporting events and other gifts and opportunities. All contributions are tax deductible and will benefit the patients and students served by the clinic.

In addition to an inpatient facility that treats adolescents through older adults for psychiatric and addictive illness, Carrier also maintains an adolescent youth residence for 60 teens and a fully-accredited middle school and high school for 120 students who have been classified as emotionally disturbed.

To register for the Carrier Classic, call the Fund Development Department, at (908) 281-1538.

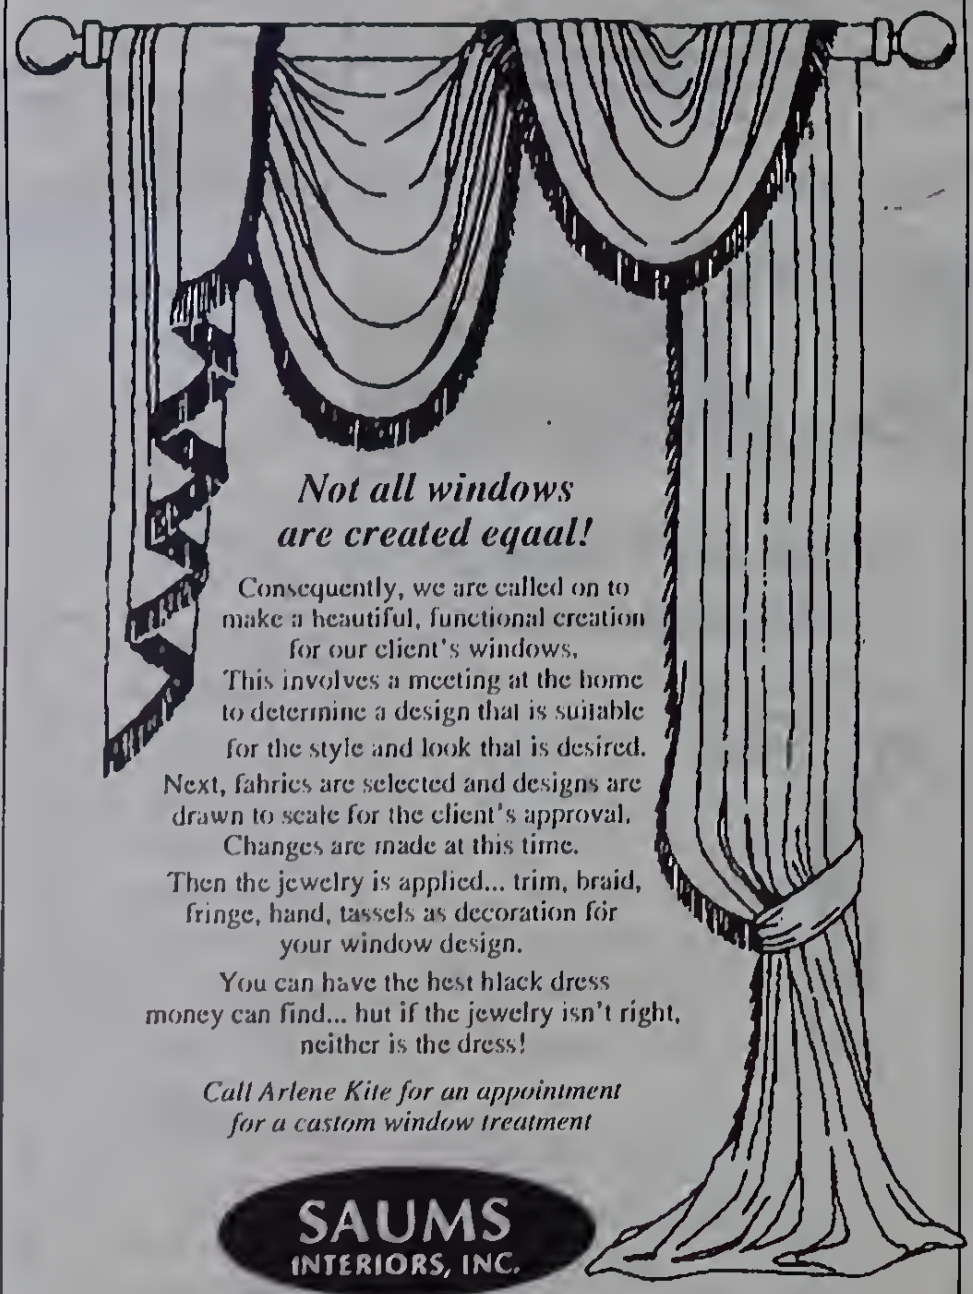
Haute Couture For Windows



Not all windows are created eqaal!

Consequently, we are called on to make a beautiful, functional creation for our client's windows.
This involves a meeting at the home to determine a design that is suitable for the style and look that is desired.
Next, fabrics are selected and designs are drawn to scale for the client's approval. Changes are made at this time.
Then the jewelry is applied... trim, braid, fringe, hand, tassels as decoration for your window design.

You can have the best black dress money can find... but if the jewelry isn't right, neither is the dress!

Hospital Reports Births To Six Area Residents

The Medical Center at Princeton has reported births to six area residents for the week ending June 14.

Sons were born to Reginald and Holly Savoy, Hopewell, June 8; Robert Goulding and Margaret Meserve, Princeton, June 8; Anton and Ludmila Karnaukh, Princeton, June 11; and to Brian and Melanie Lerner, Princeton Junction, June 13.

Daughters were born to Thomas and Jeanne McGinty, Skillman, June 12; and to Bing Xia and Shanyan Li, Plainsboro, June 14.

Support Sources

H.O.P.E. (Helping Other People Evolve, Inc.), a 10-week education and support program for recently-widowed men and women of all ages, is accepting registrations for the Summer Series, beginning the week of July 9.

Day and evening classes are available in Mercer County. Registrations close after the third meeting. To receive information, or to register, call H.O.P.E. at 1-888-920-2201.

The Seniors in Motion program of New Jersey is making motorized and manual wheelchairs, three and four wheel scooters and other medical items available ot Senior Citizens (65+) and physically handicapped individuals. This equipment is available usually at no cost to those who qualify.

The program features in-home assessments by trained local rehab specialists, and a hardship policy is in place to help those without a full funding source. This program allows residents to remain in their homes.

For more information, call toll free 800-594-1225.

"Grasses for the Masses" At the Watershed

The Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association, located on Titus Mill Road in Hopewell Township, is offering "Grasses for the Masses" for adults and teens on Saturday, June 30, from 10 to noon.

Grasses and their relatives are among the most common and important plants on our planet. Dr. Glenn Freeman of the NJ Department of Agriculture will introduce visitors to a selection of the common members of the grass, sedge, and rush families here on the Watershed Reserve.

Pre-registration is required by June 30 and enrollment is limited. For more information or to register, call the Buttinger Nature Center at 737-7592.

TALENTED YOUTH: Three Princeton Day School students who recently won state honors in the Johns Hopkins University Center for Talented Youth exam are, from left, Hannah Lomonick, Kevin Modzelewski, and Gage Caligaris. Hannah, a seventh grader, won second place for her SAT-Verbal score in New Jersey; Kevin, a sixth grade student, tied for first place in New Jersey and came in fourth out of 10,000 sixth grade participants nationally; and Gage, a seventh grader, won second place for his SAT-math score in Pennsylvania and came in 34th nationally, out of 25,000 participants.

Monthly payments are for 30-year conventional fixed rate mortgages as detailed below. Please ask about: Lower Downpayments • Lower Monthly Payments • Other Options.
For purchase prices up to $343,750 monthly mortgage payments (principal + interest) quoted in our ads are to qualified buyers. Based upon a 20% downpayment and a conventional 30-year fixed rate loan at 6.625% with 3 points, A.P.R. 6.978%. As an example, a $100,000 loan would mean 360 monthly payments of $640.31. For purchase prices from $343,751 to $812,500, the monthly payments are to qualified buyers based upon a 20% downpayment and calculated at 6.875% with 3 points on a "Jumbo" 30-year fixed rate mortgage with an A.P.R. of 7.188%. An example of a $500,000 loan would mean 360 monthly payments of $3,284.64. Figures herein are approximate and do not include property taxes, hazard insurance, or homeowners association dues for a condominium purchase. Interest rates quoted are as of May 2, 2001, and subject to change. Not responsible for typographical errors. REAL ESTATE AND YOU

By Tod Peyton

LANDSCAPING TO ENHANCE YOUR HOME'S VALUE

Many buyers call our office for information on a home after reading an appealing description of the property. The exterior of your house and the yard will create the first impression for prospective buyers when they drive up to your house. Spending money on landscaping can bring you excellent returns when you sell your home.

You don't have to spend a fortune or develop an elaborate landscaping plan to make your front yard look terrific. If the yard is neatly mowed and trimmed and there are colorful plants blooming, the outside appearance of your home in the Princeton area will make a good impression. A good nursery can help you select plants that will grow well and require minimal care. If you are planning any permanent changes or additions to your property, ask your Realtor for advice.

For dependable individual advice on buying or selling real estate, call Tod Peyton, Realtor or any Peyton Associate at 921-1550. Please feel free to stop by my office at 343 Nassau Street in Princeton.

Name Princeton's Newest Park!

Battlefield Park was named after a significant moment in Princeton History. Palmer Square and Marquand Park were named after prominent residents of Princeton. Who is going to name Princeton's newest park? YOU ARE! This is your opportunity to leave a lasting mark on the Princeton Community.

A contest is being held to name the new 50-acre Township Park on Rosedale Road at the site of the former Robert Wood Johnson Estate. To enter, complete this form and return it to: Name Princeton's Newest Park, P.O. 486. Princeton 08542. The deadline for entry is July 5.

I think the park should be named . . . . . .

. . . . . .

I think this is the best name for the park because . . . . . .

. . . . . .

. . . . . .

My name is: . . . . . .

My age is: . . . . . .

My address is: . . . . . .

. . . . . .

My telephone number is (need for notification): . . . . . .

Judges will be selected by the Name Princeton's Newest Park committee and will include representatives from the Princeton community and D&R Greenway.

The winner will be notified by telephone on July 17th. Should the winning name be entered by more than one individual the first entry received will be deemed the winner of the contest. The official announcement of the winning name will be made at a party to benefit the Delaware & Raritan Greenway to be held at the new park on July 21t from 4 to 7. For ticket information call 924-4646. Tickets must be purchased in advance of the event.

Proceeds of the event will benefit Delawnre & Raritan Greenway, Central New Jersey's regional land conservancy, which spearheaded the preservation of the former Robert Wood Johnson Estate. D&R Greenway has preserved over 3,600 acres of land in area over the past 12 years. By working with landowners interested citizens, local governments and the State of New Jersey, D&R Greenway is preserving the region's treasured open space, making a lasting impact on quality of life in local communities. Current projects include leading the effort to preserve Coventry Farm, among many significant lands in our area.

GMAC™ Real Estate

Not so long ago, a quality builder named George Parry purchased some building lots in Hopewell's Elm Ridge Park and built some gorgeous custom homes. We are so pleased to offer (for the first time!) this beautiful colonial with contemporary features. As you enter this home you will be delighted with the center hall colonial floor plan as it easily combines with the current popularity of a large cathedral ceilinged Great Room off the kitchen. The kitchen itself, with generous breakfast area, provides plenty of space and every guest has a friendly, open place in which to relax while chatting with the cook!

Each single room is a treat, with incredible attention paid to details such as molding, designer painting and the layout itself. There is a powder room, as well, off the kitchen. First floor master bedroom contributes to the ease and quality of living in such a spacious house. Of course, the Jacuzzi type tub, dressing area and built-ins add to the feeling of luxury which is evident throughout. Upstairs, you will find four additional bedrooms and two more baths.

Set on a 1.38 acre lot, there is a large custom deck which leads to the lovely inground pool. Mature professional landscaping completes the picture. This is a house meticulously cared for by its owners who have spared no effort or expense in its presentation. $825,000

Marketed by Robin Wallack

What a treat to be able to offer this beautifully remodeled colonial in Princeton's Littlebrook section! Upon entering this home, it is evident that the current owners gave serious thought to every detail involved in this major renovation. From the gleaming oak floors to the custom granite kitchen counters, individuality and quality are evident. Living room with fireplace provides a formal place to entertain, or if you prefer to be more casual, hang out in the open kitchen/family room. There is even a screened porch right off the kitchen for warm weather relaxation. The garden is exquisite, as well. Super house, super location - a real winner!! $649,900
